500.830 Life insurer's reserves; annual valuation, fee.

Sec. 830. (1) The commissioner shall annually value, or cause to be valued, the reserve liabilities (hereinafter called reserves) for all outstanding life insurance policies and annuity and pure endowment contracts of every life insurer doing business in this state, except that in the case of an alien insurer, such valuation shall be limited to its United States' business, and may certify the amount of any such reserves, specifying the mortality table or tables, rate or rates of interest, and methods (net level premium method or other) used in the calculation of such reserves. In calculating such reserves, he may use group methods and approximate averages for fractions of a year or otherwise. In lieu of the valuation of the reserves herein required of any foreign insurer, including any insurer organized under the laws of any foreign government, he may accept any valuation made, or caused to be made, by the insurance supervisory official of any state or other jurisdiction, when such valuation complies with the minimum standard herein provided, and if the official of such state or jurisdiction accepts as sufficient and valid for all legal purposes the certificate of valuation of the commissioner, when such certificate states the valuation to have been made in a specified manner according to which the aggregate reserves would be at least as large as if they had been computed in the manner prescribed by the law of that state or jurisdiction.

The insurer shall pay the commissioner, as compensation for such valuation, 1 cent for each thousand dollars insured, under policies insuring residents of these United States, or issued by an insurer organized under the laws of this state.

Any such insurer, which at any time shall have adopted any standard of valuation producing greater aggregate reserves than those calculated according to the minimum standard herein provided, may, with the approval of the commissioner, adopt any lower standard of valuation, but not lower than the minimum herein provided.

(2) Every foreign cooperative or assessment insurer shall have its business valued and shall maintain reserves in accordance with the standards currently required of Michigan insurers transacting similar insurance by this insurance code.

500.831 Domestic insurer's business in foreign country; variance of mortality standard.

Sec. 831. In case of insurance issued by a domestic insurer authorized to do business in a foreign country upon the lives of residents of that country, the commissioner may vary the mortality standard to a standard applicable to that country.

500.832 Life insurance policies and contracts; valuation of forfeitable contracts.

Sec. 832. (1) This section shall apply to only those life insurance policies and contracts issued prior to the operative date of section 4060 (the standard nonforfeiture law).

(2) In valuing such policies, the rate of interest to be assumed shall, after and including the year 1896, be 4% per annum, and at the election of any such insurer such rate of 4% shall be assumed any year prior to 1896, and the rate of mortality shall be that established by the "table of mortality based on American experience." Group life insurance policies may be valued on the basis of the American men ultimate table of mortality with interest at the rate of 3 ½% per annum. All outstanding industrial life insurance policies issued on or after January 1, 1944, except as otherwise provided in section 834, shall be valued on a basis of not less than the standard industrial table of mortality or the substandard industrial table of mortality with interest at the rate of 3 ½ % per annum. The commissioner may, upon written application of the insurer, vary the standards of mortality and interest required by this section; nothing in this section shall be construed as permitting the use of standards of mortality and interest or methods of producing aggregate reserves lower than those based upon the standard prescribed by this section; said policies shall be valued in accordance with the terms of the policy contracts. In every case in which the actual premium charged for an insurance is less than the net premium for such insurance, based upon the American experience table of mortality with interest at the rate of 4%, then and not otherwise the insurer shall also be charged with the value of an annuity, the amount of which shall be equal to the difference between the premium charged and the net premium for such insurance based upon the American experience table with interest at the rate of 4% and the term of which in years shall equal the number of future annual payments due in the insurance at the date of valuation.

500.834 Life insurance policies and contracts; valuation under standard nonforfeiture law.

Sec. 834. This section shall apply to only those life insurance policies and contracts issued on and after the operative date of section 4060 (the standard nonforfeiture law).

Minimum standard for valuation.

I The minimum standard for the valuation of all such policies and contracts shall be the commissioners reserve valuation method defined in paragraph (2) of this section, 3 1/2% interest, and the following tables:

I For all ordinary policies of life insurance issued on the standard basis, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such policies—the commissioners 1941 standard ordinary mortality table, for such policies issued prior to the operative date of paragraph 5 of subsection (5) of section 4060 of this act, and the commissioners 1955 standard ordinary mortality table for such policies issued on or after such operative date. For any category of such policies issued on female risks all modified net premiums and present values referred to in this section may be calculated according to an age not more than 3 years younger than the actual age of the insured.

II For all industrial life insurance policies issued before the operative date of paragraph 7 of subsection (5) of section 4060 on the standard basis, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such policies—the 1941 standard industrial mortality table; and for such policies issued on or after such operative date, the commissioners 1961 standard industrial mortality table.

III For individual annuity and pure endowment contracts, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such policies—the 1937 standard annuity mortality table or, at the option of the company, the annuity mortality table for 1949, ultimate, or any modification of either of these tables approved by the commissioner.

IV For group annuity and pure endowment contracts, excluding any disability and accidental death benefits in such policies—the group annuity mortality table for 1951, any modification of such table approved by the commissioner or, at the option of the company, any of the tables or modifications of tables specified for individual annuity and pure endowment contracts.

V For total and permanent disability benefits in or supplementary to ordinary policies or contracts—for policies or contracts issued on or after January 1, 1966, the tables of period 2 disablement rates and the 1930 to 1950 termination rates of the 1952 disability study of the society of actuaries, with due regard to the type of benefit; for policies or contracts issued on or after January 1, 1961 and prior to January 1, 1966, either such tables or, at the option of the company, the class (3) disability table (1926); and for policies issued prior to January 1, 1961, the class (3) disability table (1926).

Any such table shall, for active lives, be combined with a mortality table permitted for calculating the reserves for life insurance policies.

(VI) For accidental death benefits in or supplementary to policies—for policies issued on or after January 1, 1966, the 1959 accidental death benefits table; for policies issued on or after January 1, 1961 and prior to January 1, 1966, either such table or, at the option of the company, the inter-company double indemnity mortality table; and for policies issued prior to January 1, 1961, the inter-company double indemnity mortality table. Either table shall be combined with a mortality table permitted for calculating the reserves for life insurance policies.

(VII) For group life insurance, life insurance issued on the substandard basis and other special benefits—such tables as may be approved by the commissioner.

Reserves, computation.

(2) Reserves according to the commissioners reserve valuation method, for the life insurance and endowment benefits of policies providing for a uniform amount of insurance and requiring the payment of uniform premiums shall be the excess, if any, of the present value, at the date of valuation, of such future guaranteed benefits provided for by such policies, over the then present value of any future modified net premiums therefor. The modified net premiums for any such policy shall be such uniform percentage of the respective contract premiums for such benefits that the present value, at the date of issue of the policy, of all such modified net premiums shall be equal to the sum of the then present value of such benefits provided for by the policy and the excess of (x) over (y), as follows:

(x) A net level annual premium equal to the present value, at the date of issue, of such benefits provided for after the first policy year, divided by the present value, at the date of issue, of an annuity of 1 per annum payable on the first and each subsequent anniversary of such policy on which a premium falls due: Provided, however, That such net level annual premium shall not exceed the net level annual premium on the 19 year premium whole life plan for insurance of the same amount at an age 1 year higher than the age at issue of such policy.

(y) A net 1 year term premium for such benefits provided for in the first policy year. Reserves according to the commissioners reserve valuation method for (I) life insurance policies providing for a varying amount of insurance or requiring the payment of varying premiums, (II) annuity and pure endowment contracts, (III) disability and accidental death benefits in all policies and contracts, and (IV) all other benefits, except life insurance and endowment benefits in life insurance policies, shall be calculated by a method consistent with the principles of this paragraph (2), except that any extra premiums charged because of impairments or special hazards shall be disregarded in the determination of modified net premiums.

Minimum aggregate reserves.

(3) In no event shall an insurer's aggregate reserves for all life insurance policies, excluding disability and accidental death benefits be less than the aggregate reserves calculated in accordance with the method set forth in paragraph (2) and the mortality table or tables and rate or rates of interest used in calculating nonforfeiture benefits for such policies.

Reserves for any category of policies, contracts, or benefits.

(4) Reserves for any category of policies, contracts or benefits as established by the commissioner, may be calculated, at the option of the insurer, according to any standards which produce greater aggregate reserves for such category than those calculated according to the minimum standard herein provided, but the rate or rates of interest used shall not be higher than the corresponding rate or rates of interest used in calculating any nonforfeiture benefits provided for therein: Provided, however, That re-values for participating life insurance policies may, with the consent of the commissioner, be calculated according to a rate of interest lower than the rate of interest used in calculating the nonforfeiture benefits in such policies, with the further proviso that if such lower rate differs from the rate used in the calculation of the nonforfeiture benefits by more than 1/2%, the insurer issuing such policies shall file with the commissioner a plan providing for such equitable increases, if any, in the cash surrender values and nonforfeiture benefits in such policies as the commissioner shall approve.

Deficiency reserves.

5 If the gross premium charged by any life insurer on any policy or contract is less than the net premium for the policy or contract according to the mortality table, rate of interest and methods used in calculating the reserve thereon, there shall be maintained on such policy or contract a deficiency reserve in addition to all other reserves required by law. For each such policy or contract the deficiency reserves shall be the present value, according to such standard, of an annuity of the difference between such net premium and the premium charged for such policy or contract, running for the remainder of the premium-paying period.

INVESTMENTS.

500.900 Repealed. 1969, p. 678, Act 318, Eff. Mar. 20, 1970.

Section related to investments by domestic insurer.

500.901 Insurance; investments by insurer; assets and liabilities, valuation.

Sec. 901. (1) Every domestic insurer authorized to transact insurance in this state, including domestic fraternal benefit societies and the accident fund created by section 2 of part 5 of Act No. 10 of the Public Acts of the first extra session of 1912, as amended, being section 415.2 of the Compiled Laws of 1948, may loan or invest its funds in any investment, and may buy, sell, hold title to, possess, occupy, hypothecate, convey, manage, protect, insure and deal with respect to its investments, property and moneys to the same extent as any other person or corporation may do under the laws of this state or of the United States and may value its assets and liabilities in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles if:

Assets equal to liabilities; reserves.

(a) The insurer or fund has assets in cash or as defined in this chapter in a total amount at least equal to its liabilities including its reserves as required by this act, plus an amount for contingencies as defined in subsection (5), plus an amount equal to the minimum capital and surplus required to be maintained by this act. Assets defined by sections 946 and 947 shall not be used to satisfy more than 10% of this requirement. Such liabilities and reserves may be reduced by: (i) reinsurance ceded to the extent admitted in accordance with rules prescribed by the commissioner, (ii) policy loans secured by policies included in such liabilities and reserves but not in excess of the cash surrender value of such policies, (iii) the net amount of life insurance premiums and annuity considerations deferred and uncollected, (iv) amounts receivable from any person to the extent that the offset liabilities or amounts payable to the same person, or amounts receivable from an agent or agency which does not have control of more than 10% of all agents' balances of the insurer and which is not affiliated with the insurer as defined in subsection (3), on policies with an effective date not more than 1 month old, to the extent that such amounts are offset by unearned premium reserves on the same policies. Such assets, liabilities and reserves shall exclude assets, liabilities and reserves included in separate accounts established in accordance with section 925. The value of income due and accrued in respect to such assets may be included in the total amount. Such assets shall not be valued at more than the actual value as ascertained in the manner approved by the commissioner, except those assets valued in accordance with subdivision (b) by insurers subject to subdivision (b).

Life insurers; fraternal benefit societies.

b. An insurer authorized to transact life insurance, including fraternal benefit societies, shall have assets in cash or as defined by sections 910, 912, 914, 916, 918, 924, 932, 934, 936, 942 and 944 in a total amount at least equal to 90% of the reserves established in accordance with sections 830, 831, 832 and 834 as to life insurers and section 5055 as to fraternal benefit societies. Assets defined by section 924 shall not be used to satisfy more than 1/9 of this requirement. Such reserves may be reduced by: (i) reinsurance ceded to the extent admitted in accordance with rules prescribed by the commissioner, (ii) policy loans secured by policies included in such reserve but not in excess of the cash surrender value of such policies, (iii) the net amount of life insurance premiums and annuity considerations deferred and uncollected, (iv) amounts receivable from any person to the extent that they offset liabilities or amounts payable to the same person. Such assets and reserves shall exclude assets and reserves included in separate accounts established in accordance with section 925. The value of income due and accrued in respect to such assets may be included in such total amount. Assets defined by section 916 may be valued at the cost price thereof. Assets defined by sections 912, 914, 918, 934, 938 and 942 which have a fixed term and rate, if amply secured and not in default as to principal and interest may be valued as follows: If purchased at par, at the par value; if purchased above or below par, on the basis of the purchase price adjusted so as to bring the value to par at maturity and so as to yield in the meantime the effective rate of interest at which the purchase was made. The purchase price shall not be taken at a higher figure than the actual market value at the time of purchase. The commissioner shall have discretion in determining the method of calculating values. Such other assets shall not be valued at more than the actual value as ascertained in the manner approved by the commissioner.

Assets invested with 1 person or parcel of realty.

2. The assets required by subdivision (a) of subsection (1) shall not include more than 5% of such assets invested in, loaned to, secured by, leased or rented to or deposited with 1 person, or invested in 1 parcel of real estate but this restriction shall not apply to obligations of the United States or any state, or agencies or instrumentalities thereof, if the principal and interest are fully guaranteed by the United States or any state.

Assets invested with subsidiaries or affiliates.

(3) The assets required by subsection (1) shall not include assets invested in, loaned to, secured by, leased or rented to or deposited with a person that is, directly or indirectly, owned or controlled by the insurer, or that, directly or indirectly, owns, controls or is affiliated with the insurer. Two persons shall be deemed to be affiliated if they are both owned or controlled, directly or indirectly, by the same person or by the same group of persons. Control shall be presumed to exist if a person, directly or indirectly, owns, controls, holds with the power to vote or holds proxies, representing 10% or more of the voting securities of any other person.

Wholly owned insurance subsidiary.

(4) Notwithstanding the limitations in subsections (2) and (3), the assets required by subsection (1) may include the value of a wholly owned subsidiary authorized to transact insurance in this state in an amount equal to the assets defined by subdivisions (a) and (b) of subsection (1), as limited by subsections (2) and (3), which are held by the subsidiary and which are in excess of the amount of assets required for the subsidiary by subsection (1).

Amount for contingencies, calculation.

(5) The amount for contingencies referred to in this section for each insurer other than an insurer authorized to transact life insurance and other than an insurer transacting only title insurance, shall equal the sum of its underwriting gain, if any, realized for each of the 2 most recent calendar years in respect to its entire business excluding reinsurance ceded and assumed, as calculated by subtracting from the premiums earned during each year the sum of: The incurred policy benefits and adjustment expenses related thereto arising out of accidents or events that occurred during each such year, the other underwriting expenses, excluding federal and foreign income taxes to the extent offset by net investment gain, incurred during each year, and dividends to policyholders incurred during each year. The amount for contingencies referred to in this section for insurers authorized to transact life insurance and insurers transacting only title insurance shall equal zero. Two or more insurers authorized to transact insurance in this state may compute the amount for contingencies referred to in this section on a consolidated basis and prorate the total amount for contingencies to each insurer in proportion to the premiums earned by each insurer, if:

(a) They are affiliated through ownership, where each insurer is wholly owned by or wholly owns 1 or more of the other insurers in the group, or

(b) They pool substantially all their business with each other and the commissioner certifies that such computation on a consolidated basis will more accurately reflect the financial condition and affairs of the insurers.

Time for compliance.

(6) Every insurer or fund, including fraternal benefit societies, authorized to transact insurance in this state on the effective date of this section shall be allowed 2 years after the effective date of this section in which to comply with the requirements of this section. Any insurer which fails to meet the requirements of this section at the end of such 2 years may be granted 1 extension of an additional 2 years in which to comply by the commissioner if the commissioner is satisfied the insurer is safe, reliable and entitled to public confidence and would materially suffer from a forced conversion of its assets to comply with this section.

Failure to maintain compliance; restoration.

(7) If, at any time following compliance with the requirements of this section, an insurer, fund or fraternal benefit society, fails to maintain compliance, the commissioner, upon written request by the insurer, may grant a period of time not to exceed 1 year within which to restore compliance. Such period of time may be granted only if the commissioner (1) is satisfied the insurer is safe, reliable and entitled to public confidence, (2) is satisfied the insurer would suffer a material financial loss from an immediate forced conversion of its assets, and (3) approves a plan filed by the insurer for restoring compliance within the time granted.

Powers; committee.

3. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, a life insurer, if necessary to comply with the investment company act of 1940, with respect to any such account or any portion thereof may:

(a) Exercise the voting rights of the stock or shares or interest in accordance with instructions from the persons having the beneficial interests in such account ratably according to their respective interests in such account.

(b) Establish a committee for such account, the members of which may be directors or officers or other employees of such insurer, or persons having no such relationship to such insurer, or any combination thereof, who may be elected to such membership by the vote of the persons having the beneficial interests in such account ratably according to their respective interests in such account. Such committee may have the power, which may be exercisable alone or in conjunction with others, or which may be delegated to such insurer or any other person, as investment manager or investment adviser, to authorize purchases and sales of investments for such account, provided that as long as such life insurer or any subsidiary or affiliate of such life insurer shall be the investment manager or investment adviser of such account, the investments of such account shall be eligible under the provisions of this section. If compliance with the investment company act of 1940 shall involve only a portion of such account, such insurer may establish such a committee for only such portion, and its members may be elected by the vote of the persons having the beneficial interests in such portion. Any such committee for only a portion of such account may be given the further power to require the subdivision of such account into 2 accounts so that the portion of the account with respect to which such committee shall be acting shall constitute a separate account. If such committee shall so require, the insurer shall segregate from the account being so subdivided a portion of each asset held with respect to the reserve liabilities of such account. Such portion shall be in the same proportion to the total of such asset as the reserve liability for the portion of the account with respect to which such committee is acting bears to the total reserve liability of such account; and notwithstanding any other provision of law, the assets so segregated shall be transferred to a separate account with respect to which such committee shall act.

Accounts kept separate.

(4) The investments and liabilities of such account shall at all times be clearly identifiable and distinguishable from the other investments and liabilities of the insurer. No sale, transfer or exchange of investments may be made between any of the separate accounts or between any other investment account of the company and 1 or more of the separate accounts, except for the purpose of (i) conducting the business of the account in accordance with provisions of a "contract on a variable basis", or (ii) making adjustments necessitated by such contract for mortality experience adjustment, and then only if such transfers are made by a transfer of cash or by a transfer of securities having a valuation which can readily be determined in the market place. The commissioner may require for domestic life insurers that a transfer of cash or investments from a separate account or accounts to the company be approved in advance of such transfer.

Investment company act, defined.

(5) The term "investment company act of 1940" as used in this section means the act of congress approved August 22, 1940 entitled "investment company act of 1940" as amended from time to time, or any similar statute enacted in substitution therefor.

Rules.

(6) The commissioner may issue such reasonable rules as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this section.

500.1301 Insurance holding companies; definitions.

Sec. 1301. As used in this chapter:

a "Affiliate" of, or a person "affiliated" with, a specific person, means a person that directly, or indirectly through 1 or more intermediaries, controls, or is controlled by, or is under common control with, the person specified.

b "Commissioner" means the commissioner of insurance, his deputies or the insurance bureau.

c "Control", including the terms "controlling", "controlled by" and "under common control with", means the possession, direct or indirect, of the power to direct or cause the direction of the management and policies of a person, whether through the ownership of voting securities, by contract other than a commercial contract for goods or nonmanagement services, or otherwise, unless the power is the result of an official position with or corporate office held by the person. Control is presumed to exist if any person, directly or indirectly, owns, controls, holds with the power to vote, or holds proxies representing 10% or more of the voting securities of any other person. This presumption may be rebutted by a showing made in the manner provided by section 1332 that control does not in fact exist. The commissioner may determine, after furnishing to all persons in interest, notice and opportunity to be heard and making specific findings of fact to support such determination, that control in fact exists, notwithstanding the absence of a presumption to that effect.

d "Insurance holding company system" means 2 or more affiliated persons, 1 or more of which is an insurer.

e "Insurer" means the same as set forth in section 106, except that it does not include agencies, authorities or instrumentalities of the United States, its possessions and territories, the commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the District of Columbia or a state or political subdivision of a state; fraternal benefit societies or nonprofit medical or hospital service associations.

f "Person" means the same as set forth in section 114, except that it does not include any securities broker performing no more than the usual and customary broker's function.

g "Securityholder" of a specified person means a person who owns any security of such person, including common stock, preferred stock, debt obligations and any other security convertible into or evidencing the right to acquire any of the foregoing.

h "Subsidiary" of a specified person means an affiliate controlled by such person directly or indirectly through 1 or more intermediaries.

i "Voting security" includes any security convertible into or evidencing a right to acquire a voting security.

HISTORY: New 1956, p. 523, Act 218, Eff. Jan. 1, 1957.

500.1821 Unauthorized insurers process act; purpose, substituted service of process.

Sec. 1821. The purpose of this unauthorized insurers process act is to subject certain insurers to the jurisdiction of courts of this state. The legislature declares that it is a subject of concern that many residents of this state are solicited by and hold policies of insurance issued or delivered in this state by insurers while not authorized to do business in this state, thus presenting to such residents the often insuperable obstacle of resorting to distant forums for the purpose of asserting legal rights under such policies. In furtherance of such state interest, the legislature herein provides a method of substituted service of process upon such insurers and declares that in so doing it exercises power to protect its residents and to define, for the purpose of this statute, what constitutes doing business in this state, and also exercises powers and privileges available to the state by virtue of Public Law 15, 79th Congress of the United States, chapter 20, 1st session, S. 340, as amended, which declares that the business of insurance and every person engaged therein shall be subject to the laws of the several states.

(4) Any other transaction of business in relation to such contracts, is equivalent to and shall constitute appointment by such insurer of the commissioner or his deputies, to be its true and lawful attorney, upon whom may be served all lawful process in any action, suit, or proceeding, and any such act shall be signification of its agreement that such service of process is of the same legal force and validity as personal service of process in this state upon such insurer.

(2) Service of process in any such action, suit or proceeding mentioned in section 1822 shall in addition to the manner provided in subsection (1) of this section be valid if served upon any person within this state who, in this state on behalf of such insurer, is

(a) Soliciting insurance, or

(b) Making, issuing or delivering any contract of insurance, or

(c) Collecting or receiving any premium, membership fee, assessment or other consideration for insurance; and a copy of such process is sent within 10 days thereafter by registered mail by the plaintiff or plaintiff's attorney to the defendant at the last known principal place of business of the defendant, and the defendant's receipt, or the receipt issued by the post office with which the letter is registered, showing the name

Such fee shall not exceed 12 ½% of the amount which the court or jury finds the plaintiff is entitled to recover against the insurer, but in no event shall such fee be less than $25.00. Failure of an insurer to defend any such action shall be deemed prima facie evidence that its failure to make payment was vexatious and without reasonable cause.

Each such hearing shall be conducted in the same manner as the hearings provided for in section 2029. The commissioner shall, after such hearing, state in writing his findings of fact, his decision, and his order if any, and he shall serve a copy thereof upon all parties of record to the proceeding.

(2) If such finding and decision charges a violation of this uniform trade practices act and if such method of competition, act or practice has not been discontinued, the commissioner may, through the attorney general of this state, at any time after 15 days after the service of such finding and decision cause a petition to be filed in the circuit court of Ingham county to enjoin and restrain such person from engaging in such method, act or practice. The court shall have jurisdiction of the proceeding and shall have power to make and enter appropriate orders in connection therewith and to issue such writs as are ancillary to its jurisdiction or are necessary in its judgment to prevent injury to the public pendente lite.

Review of commissioner's orders, transcript, additional evidence, modification of findings.

(3) A transcript of the proceedings before the commissioner including all evidence taken and the findings and decision shall be filed with such petition. If any party of record shall apply to the court for leave to adduce additional evidence and shall show, to the satisfaction of the court, that such additional evidence is material and there were reasonable grounds for the failure to adduce such evidence in the proceeding before the commissioner the court may order such additional evidence to be taken before the commissioner and to be adduced upon the hearing in such manner and upon such terms and conditions as to the court may seem proper. The commissioner may modify his findings of fact and decision or make new findings and decision by reason of the additional evidence so taken, and he shall file such modified or new findings and decision with the return of such additional evidence.

Injunction.

(4) If the court finds that the method of competition complained of is unfair or that the act or practice complained of is unfair or deceptive, that the proceeding by the commissioner with respect thereto is in the interest of the public and that the findings of the commissioner are supported by the weight of the evidence, it shall issue its order enjoining and restraining the continuance of such method of competition, act or practice.

Preliminary notice of hearing; application for trade conference.

(5) The commissioner shall not proceed with any formal statement of charges or notice of hearing under subsection (1) of this section until he shall first have provided such person sought to be charged, within 10 days' preliminary notice of the commissioner's proposed statement of charges or intention to call a hearing. Such preliminary proceedings shall be deemed to be privileged and shall not be subject to public inspection or announcement. Such person sought to be charged, may within 10 days after receipt of such notice make application for a trade conference as provided for in section 2047 unless the practice complained of has been previously defined as an unfair trade practice by published rule, regulation or standard as provided in section 2047. If such application is made by such person, it shall be the duty of the commissioner to call such a trade conference as provided in section 2047 to discuss the method of competition, act or practice which is the subject matter of the proposed charge; and the commissioner shall not proceed to any action under subsection (1) of this section until after such trade conference shall have been held.

Upon such review, the court shall have authority to issue appropriate orders and decrees in connection therewith, including, if the court finds that it is in the interest of the public, orders enjoining and restraining the continuance of any method of competition, act or practice which it finds, notwithstanding such finding and decision of the commissioner, constitutes a violation of this chapter.

2. If a policy of insurance, or contract of annuity (whether heretofore or hereafter issued) is effected by any person on his own life or on another life in favor of a person other than himself, or (except in cases of transfer with intent to defraud creditors) if a policy of life insurance is assigned or in any way made payable to any such person, the lawful beneficiary or assignee thereof (other than the insured or the person so effecting such insurance, or his executors or administrators) shall be entitled to the proceeds and avails (including the cash value thereof) against the creditors and representatives of the insured and of the person effecting the same, (whether or not the right to change the beneficiary is reserved or permitted and whether or not the policy is made payable in the event that the beneficiary or assignee shall predecease such person, to the person whose life is insured or the person effecting the insurance): Provided, That, subject to the statute of limitations, the amount of any premiums for said insurance paid with intent to defraud creditors, with interest thereon, shall inure to their benefit from the proceeds of the policy: Provided further, That proof that such transfer was made and a particular debt or claim existed at the time of such transfer shall be prima facie evidence of intent to defraud said creditor as to said debt or claim; but the company issuing the policy shall be discharged of all liability thereon by payment of its proceeds in accordance with its terms, unless before such payment the company shall have written notice at its home office, by or in behalf of a creditor of a claim to recover for transfer made or premiums paid with intent to defraud creditors, with specification of the amount claimed.

500.2218 Disability insurance; false statement in application.

Sec. 2218. The falsity of any statement in the application for any disability insurance policy covered by chapter 34 of this code may not bar the right to recovery thereunder unless such false statement materially affected either the acceptance of the risk or the hazard assumed by the insurer.

Material misrepresentation; refusal to insure.

(1) No misrepresentation shall avoid any contract of insurance or defeat recovery thereunder unless the misrepresentation was material. No misrepresentation shall be deemed material unless knowledge by the insurer of the facts misrepresented would have led to a refusal by the insurer to make the contract.

Definitions, representation, misrepresentation.

(2) A representation is a statement as to past or present fact, made to the insurer by or by the authority of the applicant for insurance or the prospective insured, at or before the making of the insurance contract as an inducement to the making thereof. Misrepresentation by applicant for life, accident or health insurance as to previous treatment or care.

(4) A misrepresentation that an applicant for life, accident or health insurance has not had previous medical treatment, consultation or observation, or has not had previous treatment or care in a hospital or other like institution, shall be deemed, for the purpose of determining its materiality, a misrepresentation that the applicant has not had the disease, ailment or other medical impairment for which such treatment or care was given or which was discovered by any licensed medical practitioner as a result of such consultation or observation. If in any action to rescind any contract or to recover thereon, any misrepresentation is proved by the insurer, and the insured or any other person having or claiming a right under the contract, shall prevent full disclosure and proof of the nature of the medical impairment, the misrepresentation shall be presumed to have been material.

Failure of the commissioner to act within 30 days after submittal shall constitute approval. CHAPTER 24.

CASUALTY INSURANCE RATES.

500.2400 Purpose of chapter; construction.

Sec. 2400. The purpose of this chapter is to promote the public welfare by regulating insurance rates to the end that they shall not be excessive, inadequate or unfairly discriminatory, and to authorize and regulate co-operative action among insurers in rate making and in other matters within the scope of the insurance code. Nothing in this chapter is intended (1) to prohibit or discourage reasonable competition, or (2) to prohibit, or encourage except to the extent necessary to accomplish the aforementioned purpose, uniformity in insurance rates, rating systems, rating plans or practices. This chapter shall be liberally interpreted to carry into effect the provisions of this section.

HISTORY: New 1956, p. 545, Act 218, Eff. Jan. 1, 1957.

500.2401 Scope of chapter.

Sec. 2401. (1) This chapter applies to the following kinds of insurance or coverages or risks or operations in this state:

- a. Casualty insurance, as defined in section 624, except as to livestock insurance.
- b. Surety and fidelity.
- c. Automobile insurance, as defined or included under the following sections:
 - i. 624 (general definition of casualty insurance);
 - ii. 6006 (insuring powers of domestic special automobile insurers (stock));
 - iii. 6014 (insuring powers of domestic special automobile insurers (mutual));
 - iv. 5814 (insuring powers of domestic general mutual insurers);
 - v. 7202 (insuring powers of reciprocal insurers);
 - vi. 620 (automobile insurance (limited) defined);
 - vii. 614 (marine insurance defined);
 - viii. 5814, subdivision (1) (definition of "fire insurance" in insuring powers of domestic general mutual insurers).

(d) When transacted by general mutual insurers, to the following insurances as defined in section 5814:

- (i) Liability;
- (ii) Steam boiler;
- (iii) Use and occupancy;
- (iv) Miscellaneous.

(e) To all insurances transacted by a reciprocal insurer pursuant to section 7202 (insuring powers of reciprocal insurers).

(f) Personal property floaters.

(g) Title insurance.

(2) Except, that this chapter shall not apply to:

(a) Reinsurance, other than joint reinsurance to the extent stated in section 2464;

(b) Disability insurance;

(c) Insurance against loss of or damage to aircraft or against liability, other than workmen's compensation and employers' liability, arising out of the ownership, maintenance or use of aircraft.

(3) The provisions of this chapter shall apply to all classes of insurers admitted to do business in this state, including stock, mutual, reciprocal and interinsurers authorized to write any of the kinds of insurance to which this chapter applies under any section of this insurance code.

(4) If any kind of insurance, subdivision or combination thereof, or type of coverage, subject to this chapter, is also subject to regulation by another rate regulatory chapter of this code, an insurer to which both chapter 24 and chapter 26 are otherwise applicable shall file with the commissioner, a designation as to which rate regulatory chapter shall be applicable to it with respect to such kind of insurance, subdivision or combination thereof, or type of coverage.

500.2403 Casualty insurance rates; factors, standards, uniformity.

Sec. 2403. (1) All rates shall be made in accordance with the following provisions:

(a) Due consideration shall be given to past and prospective loss experience within and outside this state, to catastrophe hazards, if any, to a reasonable margin for underwriting profit and contingencies, to dividends, savings or unabsorbed premium deposits allowed or returned by insurers to their policyholders, members or subscribers, to past and prospective expenses both countrywide and those specially applicable to this state, to underwriting practice, judgment, and to all other relevant factors within and outside this state.

(b) The systems of expense provisions included in the rates for use by any insurer or group of insurers may differ from those of other insurers or groups of insurers to reflect the requirements of the operating methods of any such insurer or group with respect to any kind of insurance, or with respect to any subdivision or combination thereof for which subdivision or combination separate expense provisions are applicable.

(c) Risks may be grouped by classifications for the establishment of rates and minimum premiums. Classification rates may be modified to produce rates for individual risks in accordance with rating plans which measure variations in hazards or expense provisions, or both. Such rating plans may measure any differences among risks that may have a probable effect upon losses or expenses as provided for in subdivision (a).

(d) Rates shall not be excessive, inadequate or unfairly discriminatory. A rate shall not be held to be excessive unless the rate is unreasonably high for the insurance coverage provided and a reasonable degree of competition does not exist with respect to the classification, kind or type of risks to which the rate is applicable. A rate shall not be held to be inadequate unless the rate is unreasonably low for the insurance coverage provided and the continued use of the rate endangers the solvency of the insurer; or unless the rate is unreasonably low for the insurance provided and the use of the rate has or will have the effect of destroying competition among insurers, creating a monopoly or causing a kind of insurance to be unavailable to a significant number of applicants who are in good faith entitled to procure such insurance through ordinary methods.

(2) Except to the extent necessary to meet the provisions of subdivision (d) of subsection (1), uniformity among insurers in any matters within the scope of this section is neither required nor prohibited.

HISTORY: New 1956, p. 546, Act 218, Eff. Jan. 1, 1957;—Am. 1969, p. 784, Act 346, Eff. Apr. 1, 1970.

500.2406 Filing of classifications, rules and rates; supporting information; public inspection.

Sec. 2406. (1) Every insurer shall file with the commissioner every manual of classification, every manual of rules and rates, every rating plan and every modification of any of the foregoing which it proposes to use. Every such filing shall state the proposed effective date thereof, and shall indicate the character and extent of the coverage contemplated. When a filing is not accompanied by the information upon which the insurer supports such filing, and the commissioner does not have sufficient information to determine whether such filing meets the requirements of this chapter, he shall within 10 days of such filing give written notice to such insurer to furnish the information upon which it supports such filing. The information furnished in support of a filing may include (a) the experience or judgment of the insurer or rating organization making the filing, (b) its interpretation of any statistical data it relies upon, (c) the experience of other insurers or rating organizations, or (d) any other relevant factors. A filing and any supporting information shall be open to public inspection after the filing becomes effective.

(2) An insurer may satisfy its obligation to make such filings by becoming a member of, or a subscriber to, a licensed rating organization which makes such filings, and by filing with the commissioner a copy of its authorization of the rating organization to make such filings on its behalf. Nothing contained in this chapter shall be construed as requiring any insurer to become a member of or a subscriber to any rating organization.

500.2408 Casualty insurance rates; review of filing by insurance commissioner.

Sec. 2408. (1) The commissioner shall review filings as soon as reasonably possible after they have been made in order to determine whether they meet the requirements of this chapter.

Same; waiting period.

(2) Subject to the exception specified in subsection (3) of this section, each filing whether or not accompanied by supporting information shall be on file for a waiting period of 15 days before it becomes effective, which period may be extended by the commissioner for 1 additional period not to exceed 15 days if he gives written notice within such waiting period to the insurer or rating organization which made the filing that he needs such additional time for the consideration of such filing. Upon written application by such insurer or rating organization, the commissioner may authorize a filing which he has reviewed to become effective before expiration of the waiting period or any extension thereof. A filing whether or not accompanied by supporting information shall be deemed to meet the requirements of this chapter unless disapproved by the commissioner within the waiting period or extension thereof: Provided,

That where a filing is not accompanied by supporting information and such information is required by the commissioner under subsection (1) of section 2406, such filing shall be deemed to meet the requirements of this chapter unless disapproved by the commissioner within 15 days after such information is furnished.

(3) Any special filing with respect to a surety or guaranty bond required by law or by court or executive order or by order, rule or regulation of a public body, not covered by a previous filing, shall become effective when filed and shall be deemed to meet the requirements of this chapter until such time as the commissioner reviews the filing and so long thereafter as the filing remains in effect.

Under such rules and regulations as he shall adopt the commissioner may, by written order, suspend or modify the requirement of filing as to any kind of insurance, subdivision or combination thereof, or as to classes of risks, the rates for which cannot practicably be filed before they are used. Such orders, rules and regulations shall be made known to insurers and rating organizations affected thereby. The commissioner may make such examination as he may deem advisable to ascertain whether any rates affected by such order meet the standards set forth in section 2403 (1) (d) (rate standards).

Such application shall specify the basis for the modification and a copy shall also be sent simultaneously to such rating organization. In considering the application to file such deviation the commissioner shall give consideration to the available statistics and the principles for rate making provided in section 2403. He shall issue an order denying such application if he finds that the deviation applied for does not meet the requirements of this chapter.

2: If such appeal is based upon the failure of the rating organization to make a filing on behalf of such member or subscriber which is based on a system of expense provisions which differs, in accordance with the right granted in section 2403 (1) (b) from the system of expense provisions included in a filing made by the rating organization, the commissioner shall, if he grants the appeal, order the rating organization to make the requested filing for use by the appellant. Such rules and plans may also provide for the recording and reporting of expense experience items which are specially applicable to this state and are not susceptible of determination by a prorating of countrywide expense experience. In promulgating such rules and plans, the commissioner shall give due consideration to the rating systems on file with him and, in order that such rules and plans may be as uniform as is practicable among the several states, to the rules and to the form of the plans used for such rating systems in other states. 500.2603 Rate-making factors; standards, uniformity.

Sec. 2603. (1) All rates shall be made in accordance with the following provisions:

(a) Due consideration shall be given to past and prospective loss experience within and outside this state, to catastrophe hazards, to a reasonable margin for underwriting profit and contingencies, to dividends, savings or unabsorbed premium deposits allowed or returned by insurers to their policyholders, members or subscribers, to past and prospective expenses both countrywide and those specially applicable to this state, and to all other relevant factors within and outside this state; and in the case of fire insurance rates consideration shall be given to the experience of the fire insurance business during a period of not less than the most recent 5-year period for which such experience is available.

(b) The systems of expense provisions included in the rates for use by any insurer or group of insurers may differ from those of other insurers or groups of insurers to reflect the requirements of the operating methods of any such insurer or group with respect to any kind of insurance or with respect to any subdivision or combination thereof for which subdivision or combination separate expense provisions are applicable.

(c) Risks may be grouped by classifications for the establishment of rates and minimum premiums. Classification rates may be modified to produce rates for individual risks in accordance with rating plans which measure variations in hazards or expense provisions or both. Such rating plans may measure any differences among risks that may have a probable effect upon losses or expenses as provided for in subdivision (a).

(d) Rates shall not be excessive, inadequate or unfairly discriminatory. A rate shall not be held to be excessive unless the rate is unreasonably high for the insurance coverage provided and a reasonable degree of competition does not exist with respect to the classification, kind or type of risks to which the rate is applicable. A rate shall not be held to be inadequate unless the rate is unreasonably low for the insurance coverage provided and the continued use of the rate endangers the solvency of the insurer; or unless the rate is unreasonably low for the insurance provided and the use of the rate has or will have the effect of destroying competition among insurers, creating a monopoly or causing a kind of insurance to be unavailable to a significant number of applicants who are in good faith entitled to procure such insurance through ordinary methods.

(2) Except to the extent necessary to meet the provisions of subdivision (d) of subsection (1), uniformity among insurers in any matters within the scope of this section is neither required nor prohibited.

Every such filing shall state the proposed effective date thereof, and shall indicate the character and extent of the coverage contemplated.

(2) When a filing is not accompanied by the information upon which the insurer supports such filing, and the commissioner does not have sufficient information to determine whether such filing meets the requirements of this chapter, he shall require such insurer to furnish the information upon which it supports such filing and in such event the waiting period shall commence as of the date such information is furnished. The information furnished in support of a filing may include (a) the experience or judgment of the insurer or rating organization making the filing, (b) its interpretation of any statistical data it relies upon, (c) the experience of other insurers or rating organizations, or (d) any other relevant factors.

3. If, after such hearing, the commissioner finds that the filing does not meet the requirements of this chapter, he shall issue an order specifying in what respects he finds that such filing fails to meet the requirements of this chapter, and stating when, within a reasonable period thereafter, such filing shall be deemed no longer effective. If the commissioner after hearing finds that the filing does not comply with the provisions of this chapter, he may issue his order determining wherein and to what extent such filing is deemed to be improper and fixing a date thereafter, within a reasonable time, after which such filing shall no longer be effective. Any order of disapproval under this section must be entered within 30 days of the date of the filing affected.

Approval; adjustment of premium; review.

(3) In the event that no notice of hearing shall be issued within 15 days from the date of any such filing, the filing shall be deemed to be approved. (3) If the rating organization fails to grant or reject an insurer's application for subscribership within 30 days after it was made, the insurer may request a review by the commissioner as if the application had been rejected. Such rules and plans may also provide for the recording and reporting of expense experience items which are specially applicable to this state and are not susceptible of determination by a prorating of countrywide expense experience. In promulgating such rules and plans, the commissioner shall give due consideration to the rating systems on file with him and, in order that such rules and plans may be as uniform as is practicable among the several states, to the rules and to the form of the plans used for such rating systems in other states. No insurer shall be required to record or report its loss experience on a classification basis that is inconsistent with the rating system filed by it. The commissioner may designate for more rating organizations or other agencies to assist him in gathering such experience and making compilations thereof, and such compilations shall be made available, subject to reasonable rules promulgated by the commissioner, to insurers and rating organizations.

2 Reasonable rules and plans may be promulgated by the commissioner for the interchange of data necessary for the application of rating plans.

3 In order to further uniform administration of rate regulatory laws, the commissioner and every insurer and rating organization may exchange information and experience data with insurance supervisory officials, insurers and rating organizations in other states and may consult with them with respect to rate making and the application of rating systems.

500.2920 Michigan basic property insurance association or pool; establishment, members, plan of operation; servicing facilities.

Sec. 2920. (1) To implement the provisions of this chapter, there shall be maintained within this state, by all insurers authorized to provide basic property insurance in this state, other than insurers transacting insurance exclusively under chapter 68, an administrative agency of such insurers to be known as the "Michigan basic property insurance association", hereafter referred to as the "pool". Every such insurer shall be a member of the pool, as a condition of its authority to continue to transact insurance in this state.

(2) The pool shall adopt a plan of operation and any amendments thereof, not inconsistent with the provisions of this chapter, necessary to assure the fair, reasonable, equitable and nondiscriminatory manner of administering the pool, and to provide for such other matters, including agents and commissions, as are necessary or advisable to implement the provisions of this chapter. The plan of operation and any amendments thereof shall be subject to prior written approval by the commissioner. Any losses incurred by an agent relative to any policies written under the provisions of this chapter shall not be used by an insurer in determining the loss ratio of any of its agents.

(3) In accordance with its plan of operation the pool may designate 1 or more of its members as servicing facilities. Each facility shall be reimbursed for its expenses and shall have the authority to issue policies and to perform any functions of the pool that the governors lawfully may delegate to it. The designation of facilities shall be subject to the approval of the commissioner.

(4) If for any reason the pool fails to adopt a suitable plan of operation within 90 days following the effective date of this chapter, the commissioner shall adopt and promulgate such reasonable rules as are necessary or advisable to effectuate the provisions of this chapter which rules shall continue in force until modified by the commissioner or superseded by a plan of operation adopted by the pool and approved by the commissioner.

(5) The pool, either in its own name or through servicing facilities, may be sued and may use the courts to assert or defend any rights it may have under any policy of insurance or reinsurance issued in its name or by virtue of this chapter as reasonably necessary fully to effectuate the provisions thereof. No judgment against the pool shall create any liabilities in the individual members thereof except those provided in this chapter.

500.2921 Basic property insurance association or pool; board of governors, term, election, vacancies.

Sec. 2921. (1) The pool shall be managed by a board, composed of 9 governors, each of whom shall serve for terms of 1 year and each of whom shall be elected by the insurers participating in the pool. The election shall be held within 15 days of the annual determination of participation in the pool. Each insurer shall be allotted votes bearing the same ratio to the total number of votes to be cast as its degree of participation in the pool bears to the total participation. Each insurer may divide its allotted votes among not more than 3 candidates' seats on the board. At least 3 members of the board of governors shall be from participating domestic insurers and shall be representative of all classifications of insurers to the degree possible.

(2) Any vacancy on the board shall be filled by a vote of the remaining governors.

(3) If at any time the participating insurers fail to elect the required number of governors within the time prescribed or a vacancy remains unfilled for more than 15 days the commissioner may appoint the governors necessary to constitute a full board.

500.2924 Basic property insurance association or pool; adoption of standards of risks.

Sec. 2924. (1) The pool shall adopt and promulgate, subject to the prior approval of the commissioner, standards to be employed by the pool in determining whether or not a risk is acceptable for insurance by the pool including reasonable limitations on the amount of insurance that may be provided with respect to any one risk. The standards shall be relevant to the perils insured against and shall be consistent with the definition of qualified property contained in section 2901.

(2) If for any reason the pool fails to adopt suitable standards for determining whether or not a risk is acceptable for insurance by the pool within 90 days following the effective date of this chapter, the commissioner shall adopt and promulgate such reasonable standards as are consistent with the requirements of this chapter which standards shall continue in force until modified by the commissioner or superseded by standards adopted by the pool and approved by the commissioner.

500.2925 Basic property insurance; application to pool, form; insurance issuance, rejection; term of policy, renewal, binders.

Sec. 2925. (1) Any person who has an insurable interest in real or tangible personal property at fixed locations may apply to the pool for basic property insurance. The form of the application shall be prescribed by the commissioner.

(2) If the pool finds that: (a) the property has been inspected by the inspection bureau within the preceding 6 months, (b) after such inspection the applicant made a good faith, diligent effort to obtain basic property insurance through established channels in the insurance market provided by authorized insurers in this state appropriate to the nature, character and value of the property (for dwellings, such effort will be deemed to have been made if the property, after inspection, has been rejected by 2 or more insurers authorized to provide basic property insurance within the state), (c) there is no unpaid premium with respect to prior insurance on the property and (d) the property constitutes qualified property and is an acceptable risk under the standards of the pool, then the pool in its own name or a servicing facility, upon receipt of the premium, shall issue a policy for basic property insurance. Policies issued in the name of a servicing facility may be reinsured by the pool.

(3) If the pool finds that the property is not an acceptable risk, the applicant shall be entitled to a written statement setting forth the features of the property or conditions which prevent it from constituting an acceptable risk and the measures which must be taken in order to make the property an acceptable risk.

(4) Policies issued by the pool or a servicing facility shall have a term of 1 year.

(5) Such policies may be renewed upon property otherwise meeting the conditions of this chapter for 2 consecutive successive terms without additional inspection, if the pool waives such inspection.

(6) The pool, upon receipt of an appropriate premium, may cause the issuance of binders for basic property insurance for a period not exceeding 60 days upon property which at the time of such issuance has not complied with all the applicable conditions of this chapter.

500.2926 Basic property insurance; definitions; determination of participation ratios and liability limits.

Sec. 2926. (1) For the purposes of this chapter:

(a) "Participation ratio" means the proportion that the aggregate premiums written by each member for basic property insurance plus the basic property insurance component of multiple peril policies, excluding premiums attributable to the operation of the pool and excluding premiums on farm property, in this state during the preceding calendar year bears to the aggregate premiums written for such insurance in the state by all participating members of the pool, as determined annually on the basis of premiums written during the immediately preceding calendar year as disclosed in the annual statements and other experience reports filed by the members with the commissioner.

(b) "Participating member" means any member of the pool who in any given calendar year has a participation ratio greater than zero in the pool for that year.

(c) "Liability limit" means an amount equal to 1% of the member's surplus as regards policyholders as determined from the same annual statement used to determine the participation ratios for the same calendar year.

(d) "Pool's net income" means the amount shown in the pool's annual statement as filed on forms prescribed by the commissioner and determined in a manner consistent with the principles used in determining net income of fire and casualty insurers on the annual statement form prescribed by the commissioner for such insurers.

(2) The determination of participation ratios and liability limits for the remainder of the calendar year in which this act becomes effective shall be made on or before the beginning of the pool's operation in that year. Thereafter such determinations shall be made as soon as the information necessary therefor is available and shall be applicable for the entire calendar year in which they are made.

500.2927 Pool members; liabilities, interim assessments, limitations.

Sec. 2927. (1) All participating members of the pool shall participate in the premiums, expenses, losses and profits of the pool in accordance with their respective participation ratios on each and every basic property insurance policy issued or reinsured by the pool.

(2) The governors of the pool may make interim assessments of participating members, during any calendar year's operation, in accordance with participation ratios, if such assessments are necessary to pay claims or expenses of the pool's operations.

(3) No member shall be required to pay into the pool with respect to any one calendar year's operation over and above its participation ratio share of premium and other income of the pool an amount exceeding its liability limit for such year.

500.2928 Pool members; contributions, determination of amounts.

Sec. 2928. In determining amounts to be contributed by or credited to members of the pool in respect to any one calendar year's operation, the following process shall be used:

(a) The pool's net income shall first be determined.

(b) Any net income, if a gain, shall be credited to each member according to the member's participation ratio for that year.

(c) Any net income, if a deficit, shall be assessed among the participating members according to each member's participation ratio. Each member shall be given credit against this assessment for any amounts already assessed against and paid by the member in respect to the calendar year's operation. If the assessment exceeds a member's liability limit, the member shall pay only the liability limit.

(d) The amount by which any member's assessment under subdivision (c) exceeds that member's liability limit shall then be distributed as an additional assessment among all members of the pool whose liability limits have not been reached, in proportion to the participation ratios for that year, and this process shall be repeated as necessary until the entire net income deficit assessment under subdivision (c) has been retired or until all participating members have been assessed up to their liability limits for that calendar year.

(e) If an unretired deficit still remains, the commissioner shall proceed under applicable provisions of chapter 78, as amended, to assure equitable distribution of the pool's available funds among claimants.

500.2929 Pool members; insolvency or withdrawal, effect.

Sec. 2929. A determination by the commissioner that a participating member of the pool is insolvent, a revocation or approved withdrawal of a member's certificate of authority shall cause the participation ratios defined and computed under section 2926 to be immediately recalculated for the calendar year in which the event takes place, excluding such insurer, however, from participation so that its participation ratio share for such year is, in effect, assumed and redistributed among the remaining participating members of the pool. As soon as possible thereafter an accounting shall be made up as of the date of the determination of insolvency, approved withdrawal or revocation to determine the net liability of the member to the pool. The pool, through its management may proceed as a general creditor against such member or its estate, in any manner provided by law, including action in its own name for the full amount of the net liability. Any sums recovered thereby shall be credited by the pool among its members in the calendar year in which they are actually received.

500.2930 Premiums; rate, surcharge, rate-making procedures, experience.

Sec. 2930. (1) The premium for insurance of any risk by the pool shall be equal to the rate for such insurance as established by the principal rate-making organization for such insurance within the state plus a uniform surcharge approved by the commissioner.

2 Any deficits or profits from the operation of the pool shall be recognized in the rate-making procedures and included in the rate for the types of insurance used as the basis for determining participation in the pool, in the same manner that expenses and premium taxes are recognized. The classification experience of the pool shall be included in determining the classification relativities or adjustments for voluntary business.

500.2931 Premiums; limitations, ratio of premiums in each county.

Sec. 2931. At no time shall the annual premiums directly written by the pool or on its behalf by servicing facilities exceed 10% of the aggregate premiums used as the basis for determining participation ratios in the pool.

In order to assure that property in areas of the state receives an equitable opportunity to utilize the pool up to its premium capacity, it shall be the operating principle of the pool to maintain a ratio of the total premiums written by or on behalf of the pool in any one county in the state in any one calendar year to the total authorized premiums for the pool in that same year to the same ratio that the aggregate assessed valuation of all taxable non-farm property situated in such county, assessed at state equalized value, bears to the aggregate assessed valuation of all taxable non-farm property in the state, assessed at state equalized value, according to the most recent available official assessed valuation figure. Pool premium writings in one or more counties may exceed the ratios for such counties, if it is determined by the commissioner that there is and will be authorized premium capacity in the pool which will not be required or utilized to meet basic property insurance needs in other counties in the state during the calendar year, but in no case shall the premiums written by or on behalf of the pool in any one county exceed 50% of the authorized premiums for the pool in one calendar year.

(2) If, after having postponed the implementation of sections 2920 to 2931, the commissioner finds that the voluntary plan of operation by authorized insurers is not creating a market operation which meets the purposes of this chapter so that basic property insurance is generally available for qualified property under conditions substantially similar to those contemplated by the provisions of this chapter, then the commissioner may order the implementation of sections 2920 to 2931. The order of the commis-

Sec. 2952. (1) There is created a fund to be known as the federal riot reinsurance reimbursement fund, hereinafter referred to as the fund, which shall be operated under the joint control of the state treasurer and the commissioner of insurance. The fund shall consist of all payments made to the fund by insurers in accordance with the provisions of this section. The state treasurer shall enforce the collection of the assessments provided hereunder as any other obligation due the state.

(2) The fund shall reimburse the secretary of the department of housing and urban development, hereinafter referred to as the secretary, in an amount up to 5% of the aggregate property insurance premiums earned in this state during the calendar year immediately preceding the calendar year, with respect to which the secretary paid losses on lines of insurance reinsured by him in this state during that year and for which he claims reimbursement from the fund in accordance with section 1223 of the housing and urban development act of 1968, Public Law 90-448, 90th congress, August 1, 1968, hereinafter referred to as the act.

(3) Whenever the secretary, in accordance with the act, shall present to the state a request for reimbursement under the act, the fund shall immediately assess all insurers which, during the calendar year with respect to which reimbursement is requested by the secretary, were reinsured under the act. The amount of each insurer's assessment shall be calculated by multiplying the amount of the reimbursement requested by the secretary by a fraction the numerator of which is the insurer's premiums actually reinsured in this state with the secretary in that calendar year and the denominator of which is the aggregate of such reinsured premiums for all insurers.

(4) The fund shall reimburse the secretary, up to amounts actually collected by it, upon drafts or vouchers duly authorized by the state treasurer with the approval of the commissioner of insurance.

(5) If any insurer fails, by reason of insolvency, to pay any assessment, the fund shall cause the reimbursement ratios, computed under subsection (3) to be immediately recalculated, excluding therefrom the insolvent insurer, so that, its assessment is in effect, assumed and redistributed among the remaining insurers.

(6) If the secretary determines that the provisions of this section are not sufficient to meet the requirements of section 1223 of the act, the fund shall assess, with respect to the calendar year in which the determination is made and for each calendar year thereafter, against each insurer, which during the applicable calendar year obtained reinsurance with the secretary on premiums earned in this state, an amount equal to the maximum for which the fund would be liable to the secretary for that calendar year multiplied by a fraction the numerator of which is the insurer's premiums actually reinsured in the state with the secretary during that calendar year and the denominator of which is the aggregate of such reinsured premiums for all insurers. As soon as practicable after the close of a calendar year, the fund, in accordance with the formula provided in subsection (3), shall calculate the actual liability of each insurer for reimbursement to the secretary for that calendar year. The difference between the actual liability so calculated and the amount previously assessed and paid with respect to that calendar year under this section shall be credited by the fund toward the assessment against each such insurer for the subsequent calendar year.

(7) In the event that the provisions of this section and the assessments made thereunder are no longer needed in order to effectuate the program for which they were intended, the amounts remaining in the fund shall be returned to the insurers in proportion to the amount which they paid.

(8) This section shall be retroactive to August 1, 1968.

(For the purpose of permitting insurers to use a uniform policy in several states, the insurer is permitted to print in the policy form in required provisions (a) and (b) above the term of "3 years". The reinstated policy shall cover only loss resulting from such accidental injury as may be sustained after the date of reinstatement and loss due to such sickness as may begin more than 10 days after such date. In all other respects the insured and insurer shall have the same rights thereunder as they had under the policy immediately before the due date of the defaulted premium, subject to any provisions endorsed hereon or attached hereto in connection with the reinstatement. Any premium accepted in connection with a reinstatement shall be applied to a period for which premium has not been previously paid, but not to any period more than 60 days prior to the date of reinstatement.

Notice given by or on behalf of the insured or the beneficiary to the insurer at (insert the location of such office as the insurer may designate for the purpose), or to any authorized agent of the insurer, with information sufficient to identify the insured, shall be deemed notice to the insurer.

In a policy providing a loss-of-time benefit which may be payable for at least 2 years, an insurer may at its option insert the following between the first and second sentences of the above provision:

Subject to the qualifications set forth below, if the insured suffers loss of time on account of disability for which indemnity may be payable for at least 2 years, he shall, at least once in every 6 months after having given notice of claim, give to the insurer notice of continuance of said disability, except in the event of legal incapacity. The period of 6 months following any filing of proof by the insured or any payment by the insurer on account of such claim or any denial of liability in whole or in part by the insurer shall be excluded in applying this provision. Failure to furnish such proof within the time required shall not invalidate nor reduce any claim if it was not reasonably possible to give proof within such time, provided such proof is furnished as soon as reasonably possible and in no event, except in the absence of legal capacity, later than 1 year from the time proof is otherwise required.

For the purpose of applying this provision when other coverage is on a provision of service basis, the "like amount" of such other coverage shall be taken as the amount which the services rendered would have cost in the absence of such coverage.

If the foregoing policy provision is included in a policy which also contains the policy provision set out in section 3440 there shall be added to the caption of the foregoing provision the phrase “—EXPENSE INCURRED BENEFITS”. The insurer may, at its option, include in this provision a definition of “other valid coverage”, approved as to form by the commissioner, which definition shall be limited in subject matter to coverage provided by organizations subject to regulation by insurance law or by insurance authorities of this or any other state of the United States or any province of Canada, and by hospital or medical service organizations, and to any other coverage the inclusion of which may be approved by the commissioner. INSURANCE WITH OTHER INSURERS: If there be other valid coverage, not with this insurer, providing benefits for the same loss on other than an expense incurred basis and of which this insurer has not been given written notice prior to the occurrence or commencement of loss, the only liability for such benefits under this policy shall be for such proportion of the indemnities otherwise provided hereunder for such loss as the like indemnities of which the insurer had notice (including the indemnities under this policy) bear to the total amount of all like indemnities for such loss, and for the return of such portion of the premium paid as shall exceed the pro rata portion for the indemnities thus determined. (If the foregoing policy provision is included in a policy which also contains the policy provision set out in section 3438 there shall be added to the caption of the foregoing provision the phrase “—OTHER BENEFITS”. The insurer may, at its option, include in this provision a definition of “other valid coverage”, approved as to form by the commissioner, which definition shall be limited in subject matter to coverage provided by organizations subject to regulation by insurance law or by insurance authorities of this or any other state of the United States or any province of Canada, and to any other coverage the inclusion of which may be approved by the commissioner. (The foregoing policy provision may be inserted only in a policy which the insured has the right to continue in force subject to its terms by the timely payment of premiums (1) until at least age 50, or (2) in the case of a policy issued after age 44, for at least 5 years from its date of issue. The insurer may, at its option, include in this provision a definition of "valid loss of time coverage", approved as to form by the commissioner, which definition shall be limited in subject matter to coverage provided by governmental agencies or by organizations subject to regulation by insurance law or by insurance authorities of this or any other state of the United States or any province of Canada, or to any other coverage the inclusion of which may be approved by the commissioner or any combination of such coverages. - 1) Death resulting from aviation other than as a fare-paying passenger on a regularly scheduled route between definitely established airports;
- 2) Military or naval service;

Provided, That if the liability of the insurer is limited as herein provided, the liability shall in no event be fixed at an amount less than the reserve on the policy (including the reserve for any dividend additions thereto and excluding the reserve for any additional benefits in the event of death by accident or accidental means or for benefits in event of any type of disability), less any indebtedness on or secured by such policy.

Nothing contained in this subdivision shall invalidate any contract made in violation of this subdivision. This subdivision shall not be construed to prohibit the exchange, alteration or conversion of policies of life insurance or annuity contracts as of the original date of such policies or contracts if the amount of insurance provided under the new policy does not exceed the amount of insurance under the original policy or the amount of insurance which the premium paid for the original policy or contract would have purchased if the new policy had been originally applied for, whichever is greater; nor to prohibit the exercise of any conversion privilege contained in any policy or contract;

Settlement at maturity for less than full value.

(4) A provision for any mode of settlement at maturity of less value than the amount insured by the policy plus dividend additions, if any, less any indebtedness to the insurer on the policy and less any premium that may by the terms of the policy be deducted, payments to be made in accordance with the terms of the policy. 500.4052 Preliminary term insurance on old policies; reserve.

Sec. 4052. Policies may be issued in this state providing for not more than 1 year preliminary term insurance by the incorporation therein of a clause on the face of the policy distinctly specifying that the first year's insurance is term insurance. If the premium charged for term insurance under a limited payment life preliminary term policy providing for the payment of all premiums thereon in less than 20 years from the date of the policy, or under an endowment preliminary term policy, exceeds that charged for life insurance under 20 pay life preliminary term policies of the same insurer at the same age, the reserve thereon at the end of any year, including the first, shall not be less than the reserve on a 20 pay life preliminary term policy issued in the same year and at the same age, together with an amount which shall be equivalent to the accumulation of a net level premium sufficient to provide for a pure endowment at the end of the premium payment period equal to the difference between the value at the end of such period for such 20 pay life preliminary term policy and the full reserve at such time of such a limited payment life or endowment policy: Provided, That this section shall apply to all policies issued subsequent to January 1, 1930, and prior to the operative date of section 4060 (standard nonforfeiture law).

(3) Any life or endowment insurance or annuity contract issued by a domestic, foreign or alien insurer may provide that the proceeds thereof or payments thereunder shall not be subject to the claims of creditors of any beneficiary other than the insured or any legal process against any beneficiary other than the insured; and if the said contract so provides, the benefits accruing thereunder to such beneficiary other than the insured shall not be transferable nor subject to commutation or encumbrance, or to process.

500.4058 Nonforfeiture benefits on old policies.

Sec. 4058. This section shall apply only to policies of life insurance other than industrial life insurance issued prior to the operative date of section 4060 (the standard nonforfeiture law).

The nonforfeiture benefit referred to in section 4024 shall be available to the owner of the policy in event of default in premium payments, after premiums shall have been paid for 3 years and shall be a stipulated form of insurance, the net value of which shall be at least equal to the reserve at the date of default on the policy and on any dividend additions thereto, specifying the mortality table and rate of interest adopted for computing such reserves, less a sum not more than 2 ½% of the amount insured by the policy and of any existing dividend additions thereto, and less any existing indebtedness to the insurer on the policy. Such provision shall stipulate that the policy may be surrendered to the insurer at its home office within 1 month from date of default for a specified cash value at least equal to the sum which would otherwise be available for the purchase of insurance as aforesaid and may stipulate that the insurer may defer payment for not more than 6 months after the application therefor is made. This section shall not be applicable to term insurances of 20 years or less.

HISTORY: New 1956, p. 590, Act 218, Eff. Jan. 1, 1957.

500.4060 Standard nonforfeiture law.

Sec. 4060. (1) This section shall be known as the standard nonforfeiture law.

Substance of required provisions.

(2) In the case of policies issued on and after the operative date of this section, as defined in subsection (8), no policy of life insurance, except as stated in subsection (7), shall be issued or delivered in this state unless it shall contain in substance the following provisions, or corresponding provisions which in the opinion of the commissioner are at least as favorable to the defaulting or surrendering policyholder:

(a) That, in the event of default in any premium payment the company will grant, upon proper request not later than 60 days after the due date of the premium in default, a paid-up nonforfeiture benefit on a plan stipulated in the policy, effective as of such due date of such value as may be hereinafter specified.

(b) That, upon surrender of the policy within 60 days after the due date of any premium payment in default after premiums have been paid for at least 3 full years in the case of ordinary insurance or 5 full years in the case of industrial insurance, the company will pay, in lieu of any paid-up nonforfeiture benefit, a cash surrender value of such amount as may be hereinafter specified.

(c) That a specified paid-up nonforfeiture benefit shall become effective as specified in the policy unless the person entitled to make such election elects another available option not later than 60 days after the due date of the premium in default.

(d) That, if the policy shall have become paid up by completion of all premium payments or if it is continued under any paid-up nonforfeiture benefit which became effective on or after the third policy anniversary in the case of ordinary insurance or the fifth policy anniversary in the case of industrial insurance, the company will pay, upon surrender of the policy within 30 days after any policy anniversary, a cash surrender value of such amount as may be hereinafter specified.

(e) A statement of the mortality table and interest rate used in calculating the cash surrender values and the paid-up nonforfeiture benefits available under the policy, together with a table showing the cash surrender value, if any, and paid-up nonforfeiture benefit, if any, available under the policy on each policy anniversary either during the first 20 policy years or during the term of the policy, whichever is shorter, such values and benefits to be calculated upon the assumption that there are no dividends or paid-up additions credited to the policy and that there is no indebtedness to the company on the policy.

(f) A statement that the cash surrender values and the paid-up nonforfeiture benefits available under the policy are not less than the minimum values and benefits required by or pursuant to the insurance law of the state in which the policy is delivered; an explanation of the manner in which the cash surrender values and the paid-up nonforfeiture benefits are altered by the existence of any paid-up additions credited to the policy or any indebtedness to the company on the policy; if a detailed statement of the method of computation of the values and benefits shown in the policy is not stated therein, a statement that such method of computation has been filed with the insurance supervisory official of the state in which the policy is delivered; and a statement of the method to be used in calculating the cash surrender value and paid-up nonforfeiture benefit available under the policy on any policy anniversary beyond the last anniversary for which such values and benefits are consecutively shown in the policy.

Any of the foregoing provisions or portions thereof not applicable by reason of the plan of insurance may, to the extent inapplicable, be omitted from the policy.

The company shall reserve the right to defer the payment of any cash surrender value for a period of 6 months after demand therefor with surrender of the policy.

Cash surrender value, determination of amount.

(3) Any cash surrender value available under the policy in the event of default in a premium payment due on any policy anniversary, whether or not required by subsection (2), shall be an amount not less than the excess, if any, of the present value, on such anniversary, of the future guaranteed benefits which would have been provided for by the policy, including any existing paid-up additions, if there had been no default, over the sum of (a) the then present value of the adjusted premiums as defined in subsection (5), corresponding to premiums which would have fallen due on and after such anniversary, and (b) the amount of any indebtedness to the company on the policy. Any cash surrender value available within 30 days after any policy anniversary under any policy paid up by completion of all premium payments or any policy continued under any paid-up nonforfeiture benefit, whether or not required by subsection 2, shall be an amount not less than the present value, on such anniversary, of the future guaranteed benefits provided for by the policy, including any existing paid-up additions, decreased by any indebtedness to the company on the policy.

Paid-up nonforfeiture benefit.

(4) Any paid-up nonforfeiture benefit available under the policy in the event of default in a premium payment due on any policy anniversary shall be such that its present value as of such anniversary shall be at least equal to the cash surrender value then provided for by the policy or, if none is provided for, that cash surrender value which would have been required by this section in the absence of the condition that premiums shall have been paid for at least a specified period.

Adjusted premiums, calculation.

(5) Except as provided in the third paragraph of this subsection, the adjusted premiums for any policy shall be calculated on an annual basis and shall be such uniform percentage of the respective premiums specified in the policy for each policy year, excluding any extra premiums charged because of impairments or special hazards, that the present value, at the date of issue of the policy, of all such adjusted premiums shall be equal to the sum of (I) the then present value of the future guaranteed benefits provided for by the policy; (II) 2% of the amount of insurance, if the insurance be uniform in amount, or of the equivalent uniform amount, as hereinafter defined, if the amount of insurance varies with duration of the policy; (III) 40% of the adjusted premium for the first policy year; (IV) 25% of either the adjusted premium for the first policy year or the adjusted premium for a whole life policy of the same uniform or equivalent uniform amount with uniform premiums for the whole of life issued at the same age for the same amount of insurance, whichever is less: Provided, however, That in applying the percentages specified in (III) and (IV) above, no adjusted premium shall be deemed to exceed 4% of the amount of insurance or uniform amount equivalent thereto. The date of issue of a policy for the purpose of this subsection shall be the date as of which the rated age of the insured is determined.

In the case of a policy providing an amount of insurance varying with duration of the policy, the equivalent uniform amount thereof for the purpose of this subsection shall be deemed to be the uniform amount of insurance provided by an otherwise similar policy, containing the same endowment benefit or benefits, if any, issued at the same age and for the same term, the amount of which does not vary with duration and the benefits under which have the same present value at the date of issue as the benefits under the policy: Provided, however, That in the case of a policy providing a varying amount of insurance issued on the life of a child under age 10, the equivalent uniform amount may be computed as though the amount of insurance provided by the policy prior to the attainment of age 10 were the amount provided by such policy at age 10.

The adjusted premiums for any policy providing term insurance benefits by rider or supplemental policy provision shall be equal to (a) the adjusted premiums for an otherwise similar policy issued at the same age without such term insurance benefits, increased, during the period for which premiums for such term insurance benefits are payable, by (b) the adjusted premiums for such term insurance, the foregoing items (a) and (b) being calculated separately and as specified in the first 2 paragraphs of this subsection except that, for the purposes of (II), (III) and (IV) of the first such paragraph, the amount of insurance or equivalent uniform amount of insurance used in the calculation of the adjusted premiums referred to in (b) shall be equal to the excess of the corresponding amount determined for the entire policy over the amount used in the calculation of the adjusted premiums in (a).

Except as otherwise provided in paragraph 5 of this subsection, all adjusted premiums and present values referred to in this section, for all policies of ordinary insurance, shall be calculated on the basis of the commissioners 1941 standard ordinary mortality table. For any category of ordinary insurance issued on female risks, adjusted premiums and present values may be calculated according to an age not more than 3 years younger than the actual age of the insured. Except as otherwise provided in paragraph 7 of this subsection, such calculations for all policies of industrial insurance shall be made on the basis of the 1941 standard industrial mortality table. All calculations shall be made on the basis of the rate of interest, not exceeding 3 ½% per annum, specified in the policy for calculating cash surrender values and paid-up nonforfeiture benefits. In calculating the present value of any paid-up term insurance with accompanying pure endowment, if any, offered as a nonforfeiture benefit, the rates of mortality assumed may be not more than 130% of the rates of mortality according to such applicable table. For insurance issued on a substandard basis, the calculation of any such adjusted premiums and present values may be based on such other table of mortality as may be specified by the company and approved by the commissioner.

In the case of ordinary policies issued on or after the operative date of this paragraph as defined in paragraph 6, all adjusted premiums and present values referred to in this section shall be calculated on the basis of the commissioners 1958 standard ordinary mortality table and the rate of interest, not exceeding 3 ½% per annum, specified in the policy for calculating cash surrender values and paid-up nonforfeiture benefits. For any category of ordinary insurance issued on female risks, adjusted premiums and present values may be calculated according to an age not more than 3 years younger than the actual age of the insured. In calculating the present value of any paid-up term insurance with accompanying pure endowment, if any, offered as a nonforfeiture benefit, the rates of mortality assumed may be not more than those shown in the commissioners 1958 extended term insurance table. For insurance issued on a substandard basis, the calculation of adjusted premiums and present values may be based on such other table of mortality as may be specified by the company and approved by the commissioner.

After May 23, 1960, any company may file with the commissioner a written notice of its election to invoke the provisions of paragraph 5 after a specified date before January 1, 1966. After the filing of such notice, then upon such specified date, which shall be the operative date for such company, paragraph 5 shall become operative with respect to the ordinary policies issued by such company and bearing a date of issue which is the same as or later than such specified date. If a company makes no election, the operative date of paragraph 5 for such company shall be January 1, 1966.

In the case of industrial policies issued on or after the operative date of this paragraph as defined in paragraph 8, all adjusted premiums and present values referred to in this section shall be calculated on the basis of the commissioners 1961 standard industrial mortality table and the rate of interest, not exceeding 3 ½% per annum, specified in the policy for calculating cash surrender values and paid-up nonforfeiture benefits. In calculating the present value of any paid-up term insurance with accompanying pure endowment, if any, offered as a nonforfeiture benefit, the rates of mortality assumed may be not more than those shown in the commissioners 1961 industrial extended term insurance table. For insurance issued on a substandard basis, the calculation of any such adjusted premiums and present values may be based on such other table of mortality as may be specified by the company and approved by the commissioner.

After the effective date of this amendatory act, any company may file with the commissioner a written notice of its election to invoke the provisions of paragraph 7 after a specified date before January 1, 1968. After the filing of such notice, then upon such specified date, which shall be the operative date for such company, paragraph 7 shall become operative with respect to the industrial policies issued by such company and which bear a date of issue the same as or later than such specified date. If a company makes no election, the operative date of paragraph 7 for such company shall be January 1, 1968.

Cash surrender values and paid-up nonforfeiture benefit; calculation.

(6) Any cash surrender value and any paid-up nonforfeiture benefit, available under the policy in the event of default in a premium payment due at any time other than on the policy anniversary, shall be calculated with allowance for the lapse of time and the payment of fractional premiums beyond the last preceding policy anniversary. All values referred to in subsections (3), (4), and (5) may be calculated upon the assumption that any death benefit is payable at the end of the policy year of death. The net value of any paid-up additions, other than paid-up term additions, shall be not less than the dividends used to provide such additions. Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (3), additional benefits payable (a) in the event of death or dismemberment by accident or accidental means, (b) in the event of total and permanent disability, (c) as reversionary annuity or deferred reversionary annuity benefits, (d) term insurance benefits provided by a rider or supplemental policy provision to which, if issued as a separate policy, this section would not apply, (e) as term insurance on the life of a child or on the lives of children provided in a policy on the life of a parent of the child, if such term insurance expires before the child's age is 26, is uniform in amount after the child's age is 1, and has not become paid-up by reason of the death of a parent of the child, and (f) as other policy benefits additional to life insurance and endowment benefits, and premiums for all such additional benefits, shall be disregarded in ascertaining cash surrender values and nonforfeiture benefits required by this section, and no such additional benefits shall be required to be included in any paid-up nonforfeiture benefits.

Policies and contracts excepted.

(7) This section shall not apply to any reinsurance, group insurance, pure endowment, annuity or reversionary annuity contract, nor to any term policy of uniform amount, or renewal thereof, of 15 years or less expiring before age 66, for which uniform premiums are payable during the entire term of the policy, nor to any term policy of decreasing amount on which each adjusted premium, calculated as specified in subsection (5) is less than the adjusted premium so calculated, on such 15 year term policy issued at the same age and for the same initial amount of insurance, nor to any policy which shall be delivered outside this state through an agent or other representative of the company issuing the policy.

Operative date; notice of election.

(8) After July 30, 1943, any company may file with the commissioner a written notice of its election to comply with the provisions of this section after a specified date before January 1, 1948. After the filing of such notice, then upon such specified date (which shall be the operative date for such company), this section shall become operative with respect to the policies thereafter issued by such company. If a company makes no such election, the operative date of this section for such company shall be January 1, 1948.

Such policies may further provide that such loan may be deferred for not exceeding 6 months after the application therefor is made.

(2) In the case of policies issued on and after the operative date of section 4060 (the standard nonforfeiture law), the loan value referred to in section 4022 shall be the cash surrender value at the end of the current policy year as required by section 4060. Only 1 policy or certificate of life insurance may be issued in connection with each mortgage loan. Dividends payable under such group policies shall inure solely to the benefit of the party paying the premiums on such insurance and proportionate to that portion of the premium paid by or on behalf of the certificate holder. Policies issued under this section shall contain a conversion privilege specifying that within 31 days of the repayment of mortgage, the insured may convert the insurance then in force to any permanent form of life insurance. HISTORY. New 1956, p. 599, Act 218, Eff. Jan. 1, 1957.

500.4424 Discretionary groups; participation, authorization.

Sec. 4424. (1) The commissioner is empowered to authorize the insuring on a group insurance basis of groups other than those specifically defined in sections 4404 through 4420, where conditions or circumstances indicate that granting such permission for discretionary group life insurance coverages is in the interest of public policy.

Basis for refusal.

2) The commissioner may refuse to grant such permission in any instance on the basis of a finding or findings that the requested group plan,

- a) Would not result in economies of acquisition and administration which justify a group rate;
- b) Would present hazards of voluntary adverse selection to a degree not usually present in group insurance;
- c) Would be actuarially unsound; or
- d) Would fail to preclude individual selection among persons to be insured under such proposed group plan.

Size and composition of group.

(3) Such discretionary group shall consist of not less than 250 persons. Such discretionary group may consist of only a portion of the employees of an employer or of the members of an organization, where such segregation arises out of reasonable grounds, geographical or otherwise, which make it presently impossible or undesirable to include in a single group all of the employees or members. Such discretionary group may consist of employees of more than 1 employer, or the members of more than 1 organization or association, when the evidence submitted clearly indicates the desirability of embracing the proposed assemblage of individuals under a single group. By way of particular but not in limitation, such group may consist of the employees of 1 or more governmental or quasi-governmental units, federal, state, municipal or local.

Trustee as policyholder.

(4) If, for reasons which the commissioner shall determine to be adequate, it appears to be impossible or infeasible for the employer to be the policyholder in any group authorized under this subsection, the commissioner may authorize the designation of a trustee or trustees to be the policyholder, subject to such regulations as the commissioner shall approve.

Group without employer contribution.

(5) The commissioner may authorize discretionary groups and plans of group insurance which qualify in all other respects under this section although there be no contribution to the premium payment from the employer or organization where he shall find that circumstances render such contribution inequitable, impossible or impracticable.

Percentage of employees, types and amount of coverage.

(6) The percentage of employees or members required to participate in any group authorized under this section, the types of insurance coverage to be offered to the members thereof, and the amounts of insurance to be provided, shall be such as the commissioner shall in his sound discretion determine. The maximum insurance available to any member of a group authorized under this section shall not exceed $25,000.00. However, where any group which previously operated under authority of any of the sections 4404 through 4420 shall be continued under the provisions of this section, the types of insurance and amounts of coverage already authorized in such group may be continued although in excess of the limitations which would otherwise be available under this section.

Examination fee; rules.

(7) Before any application for permission to qualify under this section shall be considered, the applicant shall deposit with the commissioner a specific fee of $50.00 to defray the costs of examining into the circumstances and conditions appertaining to such proposed group and group insurance; and shall covenant to compensate the department of insurance for any additional unusual expenses which it may incur. The applicant shall furnish such information, documents and data pertaining to the proposed group plan as the commissioner shall require to arrive at his determination. The commissioner shall, from time to time, publish rules for the enforcement of this section.

Judicial review.

(8) The applicant may appeal from the commissioner's refusal to authorize such discretionary group to the circuit court for the county of Ingham on the grounds that such refusal was arbitrary or capricious and devoid of sound underwriting or actuarial grounds; but any fees or costs paid to or incurred by the department of insurance under the provisions above set forth shall nevertheless not be subject to recovery.

The par value of stock provided for in any amendment shall conform to same limitations as to par value as provided in respect of stock issued pursuant to original articles of incorporation.

Petition, approval, amendment by stockholders.

(2) Whenever any such insurer purposes to increase or decrease or reclassify its capital stock, it shall first present its petition to the commissioner setting forth the reasons for such increase or decrease or reclassification. The commissioner if satisfied that the proposed increase or decrease is for the best interests of the insurer and its policyholders, and that no reasonable objection exists thereto, may authorize and approve the proposed plan of increase or decrease, or may direct such modification thereof as may seem proper. After the approval of the petition as aforesaid, such increase must be approved and the articles of incorporation amended in this respect, by the written consent given without meeting or by the affirmative vote in person or by proxy at a regular or special meeting of the stockholders of not less than 2/3 of the capital stock of the insurer having voting power, but notice of such meeting reciting the purposes thereof shall be served on each of the stockholders, either personally or by directing same through the post office to the last known post office address of such stockholder at least 3 weeks previous to such meeting: Provided, however, That if any such proposed amendment would alter or change the preferences, special rights or powers given to any 1 or more classes of stock by the articles of incorporation so as to affect such class or classes of stock adversely or would increase or decrease the amount of the authorized stock of such class or classes of stock adversely or would increase or decrease the par value thereof, then the holders of the stock of each class of stock so affected by such amendment shall be entitled to give written consent or vote as a class upon such amendment whether by the terms of the articles of incorporation such class be entitled to vote or not, and the affirmative action of a majority in interest of each such class of stock so affected by the amendment shall be necessary to the adoption thereof in addition to the affirmative action of such majority of all stock entitled to vote on an amendment as shall be required by law for the adoption thereof: And provided further, That such separate action of any class of stock proposed to be increased or decreased shall not be required if the provisions of the articles of incorporation or amendment thereto creating such class shall have authorized the increase or decrease thereof without such separate action.

(3) Such amendment to the articles shall not become effective until finally approved by the commissioner nor until submitted to the attorney general and certified by him not to conflict with the constitution or laws of this state. 500.5216 Articles; amendment as to reduction of capital.

Sec. 5216. (1) Any such stock life, disability, casualty, title or fidelity and surety insurer may by provision in its articles of incorporation or by amendment thereto made as in section 5215 provided authorized the reduction of its capital at any time and it may reduce its capital in conformity therewith. A certificate stating the fact that such reduction has been made in conformity with the articles of incorporation or amendments thereto, giving the wording of the resolution authorizing the same and the vote thereon, specifying the manner in and the extent to which the capital of the corporation is to be reduced, shall be made and filed as provided for certificates of amendment to the articles of incorporation.

Condition.

(2) No such reduction, however, shall be made in the capital of the insurer unless the assets of the insurer remaining after such reduction are sufficient to pay any debts of the insurer, the payment of which shall not have been otherwise provided for, nor if in the opinion of the commissioner to whom such certificate shall be submitted before being filed such reduction of capital shall endanger the protection of policyholders. Upon such certificate being so made and filed, the capital of the insurer shall thereby be so reduced.

Methods of effecting reduction.

thorizing and the transfer shall not have been made in respect of any designated class or classes of stock by retransferring to surplus all or any part of the amount by which capital shall have been so increased or by the purchase of shares for retirement either pro rata from all holders of shares of that class or stock or by purchasing such shares from time to time in the open market or at private sale in both cases at not exceeding such price or prices as may be fixed or approved by the stockholders entitled to vote upon the reduction of capital to be effected in that manner or by retiring shares owned by the corporation. If such reduction of capital of the corporation be effected by retiring shares then if the consent or resolution of stockholders above referred to shall so provide an amount not exceeding that part of the capital of the insurer represented by such shares may be charged against or paid out of the capital of the insurer in respect of such shares. If such reduction of capital shall have been effected by retiring or reducing the outstanding shares of any class in any manner above mentioned including the retirement of shares already owned by the insurer, the filing of said certificate as herein provided containing a recital of such fact shall constitute an amendment to the articles of incorporation effecting a reduction of the authorized capital stock of the insurer to the extent of the aggregate par value of such shares and if such shares constitute all the outstanding shares of any particular class shall have the effect of eliminating from the articles of incorporation all reference to said particular class of stock.

When any such insurer proposes to increase or decrease its capital stock it shall first present its petition to the commissioner, setting forth the reasons for such increase or decrease. The commissioner, if satisfied that the proposed increase or decrease is for the best interests of the insurer and its policyholders, and that no reasonable objection exists thereto, may authorize and approve the proposed plan of increase or decrease, or may direct such modification thereof as may seem proper.

Approval of petition, amendment by stockholders.

(2) After the approval of the petition as aforesaid, such increase or decrease must be approved, and the articles of incorporation amended in this respect, by the affirmative vote of not less than 2/3 of the capital stock of the insurer, voting in person or by proxy, at a regular or special meeting of the stockholders, but notice of such meeting, reciting the purposes thereof, shall be served on each of the stockholders, either personally or by directing same through the post office to the last known post office address of such stockholder at least 3 weeks previous to such meeting.

Final approval by commissioner.

(3) Such increase or decrease shall not become effective until finally approved by the commissioner, and until compliance is made with the requirements of section 5214.

Par value of stock; issuance of new stock.

(4) Whenever any insurer shall increase or decrease its capital stock as herein provided, the par value of its shares shall be fixed at not less than $1.00 nor more than $100.00 each, and the directors of the insurer shall have authority to make provision for calling in the old and issuing new certificates of stock.

Sec. 5243. Any person may be indemnified and reimbursed by any insurer for expenses reasonably incurred by him and liabilities imposed upon him in connection with or arising out of any action, suit or proceeding, civil or criminal, or threat thereof, in which he may be involved by reason of his being or having been a director, officer or employee of the insurer or of any firm, corporation or organization which he served in any capacity at the request of the insurer. A person shall not be so indemnified or reimbursed (a) in relation to any matter in such action, suit or proceeding as to which he shall finally be adjudged to have been guilty of breach of duty as a director, officer or employee of the insurer or (b) in relation to any matter in such action, suit or proceeding, or threat thereof, which has been made the subject of a compromise settlement: unless in either such case the person acted in good faith for a purpose which he reasonably believed to be in the best interests of the insurer and, in a criminal action or proceeding, in addition, had no reasonable cause to believe that his conduct was unlawful. The determination whether the conduct of such person met the standard required in order to justify indemnification and reimbursement in relation to any matter described in (a) or (b) of the preceding sentence may only be made by the attorneys in fact of reciprocal insurers, a majority of the policyholders of mutual insurers or the holders of record of a majority of the outstanding shares of the insurer or by a court of competent jurisdiction. No adjudication of liability or guilt as to such person shall in itself create a conclusive presumption that he did not meet the standard of conduct required in order to justify indemnification and reimbursement. The foregoing right of indemnification and reimbursement shall not be exclusive of other rights to which such person may be entitled as a matter of law and shall inure to the benefit of his heirs, executors and administrators.

Any domestic insurer may reimburse any person, who acts or has acted as an officer or director of such insurer or who has acted as an officer or director of another corporation at such insurer's request, in which other corporation such insurer is a creditor or stockholder, for the actual, necessary expenses incurred by such person in the defense of any proceedings in which such person, or any past or present officer or director of such insurer, is made a party because of being or having been an officer or director of such insurer or of such other corporation: Provided, That such expenses do not relate to any proceedings in which any such person, such past or present officer or director of such insurer, is adjudged liable for negligence or misconduct toward such insurer, or to such matters as are settled by an agreement predicated on the existence of such liability.

500.6440 Domestic cooperative plan insurers; assessment of members; nonassessable policies.

Sec. 6440. On and after January 1, 1948, every policy issued or delivered in this state by any domestic insurer subject to this chapter, shall set forth on the first page thereof, in addition to the regular specified premiums, the fact that the member is liable to be assessed to the extent needed to pay said member's aliquot share of claims and expenses, and to maintain the reserves required by this chapter. No such assessment shall be levied against any policyholder except upon due notice to such policyholder. Every policyholder shall be entitled to elect that his or her policy reserves, or the required portion thereof, shall be applied against such assessment. If any member shall fail to pay such assessment in cash within 30 days after notice, said assessment shall become a lien upon his or her policy or policies. Whenever the amount of liens upon any policy shall equal its reserve, the policy shall become void without further action and no further liability shall attach to the insurer. No assessment shall be made until the method of determining and spreading the assessment shall have been approved by the commissioner. The commissioner may authorize the prosecution of suits to collect assessments when he shall deem such action equitable and practicable: Provided, That any insurer issuing the kinds of insurance in subdivisions (1) (disability) and/or (2) (loss of position) of section 6406 may issue a nonassessable policy, which may be so described on the face of the policy, while it has contingency reserves in the amount of at least $200,000.00, and in no event shall the holder of any such policy, or any renewal thereof, be liable for a greater amount than the premiums expressed in the policy: Provided further, That no such nonassessable policy shall be issued until the commissioner shall, after examination of the insurer, determine that the insurer has contingency reserves of at least $200,000.00, and authorizes the insurer, in writing, to issue such nonassessable policies.

The agreement upon which such guaranty fund is secured shall provide that any claim for its return shall be inferior and subordinate to all claims of and reserves for policyholders and insured members, and to the statutory required contingency reserve deposit, and shall be subject to the approval of the commissioner. Such guaranty fund and agreed interest thereon, not exceeding 6% per annum, shall not be liabilities or claims against the insurer or any of its assets except as herein provided. Interest shall be paid and principal shall be retired only out of surplus of the insurer in excess of current obligations and of reserves required by this chapter. No part of such principal shall be retired unless the surplus remaining after such repayment shall equal or exceed the amount of such guaranty fund retired, and the insurer shall have received the written consent of the commissioner. No commission or promotion expense of any kind shall be paid or allowed in connection with the raising of such guaranty fund, and the amount of such guaranty fund together with interest thereon and any portion thereof retired during any year shall be reported in the insurer's annual statement. Nothing in this section shall be construed to bar any insurer subject hereto from borrowing money; but the amount so borrowed with accrued interest thereon shall be carried by the insurer as an immediate liability, as distinguished from the deferred or contingent liability status of the guaranty fund.

"Consolidation" and "merger" as used in this chapter shall include a transaction whereby an insurer authorized to transact business in this state which is a wholly owned subsidiary of a controlling corporation, which need not be an insurer, distributes shares of the capital stock of the controlling corporation in merging another insurer into such subsidiary. When any such insurer proposes to consolidate or merge with or reinsure all of its outstanding risk, with another insurer, for the purpose of effecting a merger or consolidation, the following procedure shall be mandatory:

First, The insurers shall petition the commissioner, setting forth the terms and conditions of the proposed consolidation or agreement of reinsurance, to which the commissioner may in his discretion grant his preliminary, tentative or conditional approval;

Second, After securing such approval from the commissioner, the insurers shall give notice, either personally or through mailing at least 21 days prior to the time fixed for such meeting, to the last known postal address of each stockholder, subscriber or member, that the question of such consolidation or reinsurance will be voted upon at a regular or special meeting of such stockholders, subscribers or members, which notice shall fairly but briefly describe the proposed procedure;

Fourth, The consolidation agreement or contract of reinsurance for the purpose of effecting a merger or consolidation together with proper proof that it has been approved by the stockholders, subscribers or members as aforesaid, shall be submitted to the commissioner for his final approval. Such contract shall not become effective until the commissioner, in his discretion, shall have issued his certificate of final approval to the petitioner. If the terms of the consolidation or reinsurance contract for the purpose of effecting a merger or consolidation provide that securities shall pass to any insurer assuming the liabilities for which said securities are held, any public official or other person or company holding said securities shall upon the written order of the commissioner deliver said securities to or credit said securities to the account of the corporation, corporations, person or persons entitled thereto by the terms of the contract and the order of the commissioner.

AN ACT to regulate insurance corporations, fraternal benefit and other societies and associations doing an insurance business in Michigan during and under certain emergencies, to extend the powers of the commissioner of insurance over such companies and business in such emergencies; to prevent preferences among policyholders and creditors of such companies in the payment of debts and claims and withdrawals of cash; to preserve the solvency and integrity of such companies during such emergencies for the benefit of all policyholders and other obligees of such companies and societies; and to limit certain legal process and proceedings for the period prescribed herein.

The People of the State of Michigan enact:

550.1 Declaration of emergency.

Sec. 1. That an emergency exists in the United States of America and the state of Michigan with respect to its financial and investment institutions and the financial condition of its people generally, such emergency affecting the business of insurance. The provisions of this act are, therefore, deemed to be for the protection of the public as a whole; to preserve the stability of insurance companies; to prevent undue preference among the policyholders of such companies; and to conserve the income and assets of such companies for the benefit of their policyholders and creditors.

HISTORY. CL 1945, 550.1.

550.2 Insurance company disbursement limitations.

Sec. 2. The provisions of any law of this state to the contrary notwithstanding, during any period of public calamity resulting in abnormal financial losses to and unforeseen and excessive disbursements by any insurance company, fraternal benefit society or association (herein referred to as "company" or "companies") doing business in this state, and during any financial emergency, including the emergency referred to in the governor's proclamation of February 14, 1933, and the president's proclamation of March 6, 1933, and other similar emergencies, occurring as the result of financial disturbances in business generally, threatened or actual disaster to the banking and other financial institutions of the United States or of this state, and disruption of business and orderly business process resulting in such unusual demands upon the cash or other assets of insurance companies doing business in this state as to endanger the solvency of or threaten insolvency to any such companies and the consequences thereof, the commissioner of insurance may, by general regulations applicable to all such companies, or by special regulations applicable to any class of insurance companies, prescribe such limits or restrictions upon the disbursements, loans, investment of funds or other disposition of assets of any such companies as in his judgment is or may be necessary for the preservation of the rights of all of the policyholders, beneficiaries or assignees, or other claimants or creditors of such companies, for the purpose of preventing such undue preferential payments to certain policyholders, beneficiaries, claimants and creditors as may or will imperil or prejudice the rights of other policyholders, beneficiaries, claimants and creditors, and for the promotion and maintenance of sound insurance practices. Provided, That no such rules or regulations shall be made in any case to relieve the company from making any loan applied for by the policyholder against the legal reserves on his or her policy for the purpose of paying his or her premium on his or her policy of insurance in such company.

550.3 Insurance commissioner regulatory powers.

HISTORY. CL 1945, 550.3.

550.4 Foreign insurance companies; other states' regulations, application.

state, any rule or regulation made applicable to any Michigan corporation or society doing an insurance business in the domestic state of such foreign company, during the period of any emergency covered by the provisions of this act. The commissioner of insurance may intervene in any such suit or proceeding by virtue of his office, and he or the defendant company may plead this statute and any regulation or order made pursuant thereto, in temporary bar or stay of any such action or proceeding. If, upon examination of the said articles of association, the documents and instruments above mentioned, and such further investigation as the said commissioner of insurance shall make, he is satisfied that (a) the subscriptions to membership or for hospital service contracts would not work a fraud upon the persons so solicited to become purchasers of hospital service contracts; (b) the rates to be charged and the benefits to be provided are fair and reasonable; (c) the amount of money actually available for working capital is sufficient to carry all acquisition costs and operating expenses for a reasonable period of time from the date of the issuance of the certificate of authority, and is not less than the sum of $10,000.00; (d) the amounts contributed as the working capital of the corporation are repayable only out of earned surplus; and (e) adequate and reasonable reserves to insure the maturity of the contracts are provided, he shall return to such incorporators 1 copy of such articles of association certified for filing with the county clerk of the county in which said corporation proposes to maintain its principal business office, and 1 copy to be certified by the commissioner of insurance for the records of the corporation itself, and shall retain 1 copy for his office files, and he shall then issue a certificate authorizing said incorporators to proceed with the organization.

The commissioner of insurance shall have power and authority, at any time, to revoke any certificate, order or consent made by him to the said corporation, to prescribe applications for membership, upon being satisfied that the further solicitation of members will work a fraud upon the persons so solicited, and he shall have authority

Such contracts for hospital service between the corporation and the participating hospitals shall obligate each hospital particularly to render hospital service to which each subscriber may be entitled under the terms and conditions of the contracts issued to subscribers. The People of the State of Michigan enact:

551.151 Antenuptial examination for venereal disease; certificate, laboratory tests, health commissioner authority.

Sec. 1. All persons making application for license to marry shall at any time within 30 days prior to such application be examined as to the existence or non-existence in such person of any syphilis, gonorrhea or chancroid, and except as herein otherwise provided, it shall be unlawful for the county clerk of any county to issue a license to marry to any person who fails to present and file with such county clerk a certificate setting forth that such person is free from syphilis, gonorrhea and chancroid. In order to obtain a certificate as required in this act, both parties to a proposed marriage shall, within 30 days prior to making application for license to marry, submit to medical examination for the presence of syphilis, gonorrhea or chancroid. All laboratory tests required by this act shall be made by the Michigan department of health or a laboratory which is approved by the state commissioner of health. The state commissioner of health may establish standards for the equipment and operation of approved laboratories, and may remove a laboratory from the approved list if it shall be established to the satisfaction of said commissioner that such laboratory is inadequately equipped or improperly operated. Such tests as may be made by the Michigan department of health shall be free of charge. Laboratory tests shall include a serological test approved by the state commissioner of health, a dark field test where indicated and a microscopic test for gonococci when indicated, the specimens for which shall be submitted in a manner prescribed by the state commissioner of health. Such certificates of negative findings as to each of the parties to a proposed marriage, or certificate issued by the state commissioner of health as provided in section 1a of this act, shall be filed with the county clerk at the time application for a license to marry is made.

Such certification may be issued, providing in the opinion of the state commissioner of health and other examining physician or physicians as may be designated by said commissioner of health to re-examine, that such applicant would not endanger the health of the other party to a proposed marriage or the health of the issue of such marriage, providing further that the reason for such special certification shall be explained to the proposed marital partner. Such appointee or appointees may include the physician performing the original examination. Any re-examination of the applicant for a certificate from the state commissioner of health shall be made within 30 days prior to the making of an application for a license to marry by the applicant.

Such certificates and information are hereby declared not to be public records. It shall be unlawful for any person to disclose the contents of any certificate issued in accordance with this section except to the Michigan department of health or to the local health officers or proposed marital partner.

All applications made to the said commissioner of health for a certificate in accordance with the provisions of this section shall be made upon an application form provided by the Michigan department of health which shall be accompanied by the examining physician's report of his examination stating the result of the laboratory and clinical findings and the reason or reasons why it is deemed that the disease, or diseases, with which applicant is infected is in a non-communicable stage.

552.23 Alimony; fees, disposition, payments.

Sec. 23. Upon every divorce from the bond of matrimony and also upon every divorce from bed and board if the estate and effects awarded to either party shall be insufficient for the suitable support and maintenance of either party and such children of the marriage as shall be committed to the care and custody of either party, the court may further award to either party such part of the real and personal estate of either party and such alimony out of the estate real and personal, to be paid to either party in gross or otherwise as it shall deem just and reasonable, having regard to the ability of either party and the character and situation of the parties, and all the other circumstances of the case.

To reimburse the county for the cost of handling alimony or support money payments, the court shall order the payment or [sic] $1.50 per month, payable semiannually on January 2 and July 2 thereafter, to the friend of the court or county clerk. Such fees shall be paid by the person ordered to pay such alimony or support money. The fee shall be computed from the beginning date of the support order and shall continue while the order is operative. The service charges shall be paid 6 months in advance on each due date, except for the first payment, which shall be paid at the same time the support order is filed, and shall cover the period of time from that month until the next calendar due date. Every order or judgment for the payment of temporary or permanent alimony or support money shall provide for the payment of such fees. Any order or judgment for the payment of temporary or permanent alimony or support money, entered before January 1, 1968, may be amended by the court, upon its own motion, to provide for the payment of the fees, upon proper notice to the person ordered to pay the alimony or support money. Such fees shall be turned over to the county treasurer and credited to the general fund. Where the court appoints the friend of the court custodian, receiver, trustee or escrow agent of assets owned by the husband and wife, or either of them, the court may fix the amount of the fee for such service, to be turned over to the county treasurer and credited to the general fund.

The People of the State of Michigan enact:

552.201 Contempt for failure to support children; sentence; liberty of jail limits; earnings; payment of contribution by welfare agencies.

Sec. 1. Whenever either party to a proceeding for divorce or separate maintenance has been ordered or decreed to pay money for the support and maintenance of minor children and fails or refuses to obey and perform such order, and has been found guilty of contempt of court for such failure or refusal, the court making such order in contempt proceedings may forthwith upon the filing of a sworn affidavit of complaint establishing such fact of nonpayment, issue a bench warrant requiring said party to be brought forthwith before said court to answer and plead to such neglect or refusal. Whenever the court shall be satisfied that the party is of sufficient ability to comply with said order, or by the exercise of diligence could be of sufficient ability, and has neglected or refused to do so, said court may forthwith punish such person for contempt of said court by making an order placing such person on probation or may commit him to the county jail or commit him to the county jail with the liberty of jail limits which shall be co-extensive with the limits of the county, during such hours as the court shall determine, for the purpose of allowing said party to go to and return from his place of employment under such supervision as the court shall deem necessary, or to any state prison or any penal institution in the state of Michigan for such period as said party shall continue to be in contempt, not to exceed 1 year, however; the court may further direct that any portion or all of the earnings of such person in said institution shall be paid to and applied for the support of the minor children of such person until the order or decree of the court has been complied with or until the further order of the court; and if it appears that a state, county, city or township welfare agency has contributed towards the support of said minor child or children during the period of non-compliance with the order of the court, the court may order all or part of any lump sum payment to the friend of the court or county clerk in said contempt proceedings to be paid to such welfare agency not to exceed the amount of the contribution made by the welfare agency. The court may order the money paid to the person or persons entitled thereto in weekly or monthly installments by the friend of the court or county clerk to the extent that the court may consider the same necessary for the support, maintenance and education of the minor children.

The order of assignment shall be effective 1 week after service upon the employer of a true copy of the order by personal service or by certified mail. Such removal may be made upon the certification of the judge or judges of the court under whom such "Friend of the Court" acts, which certificate shall set forth that a full hearing has been had before said judge or judges and as a result thereof, the court has determined that such "Friend of the Court" is incompetent or has been guilty of misconduct, neglect of duty, or refusal to carry out the order of the court.

(b) On his own motion in cases where he is informed and believes that due to such changing conditions the judgments should be modified.

The People of the State of Michigan enact:

554.291 Oil or gas interest in land; abandonment; claim of interest; vesting in surface owner.

Sec. 1. Any interest in oil or gas in any land owned by any person other than the owner of the surface, which has not been sold, leased, mortgaged or transferred by instrument recorded in the register of deeds office for the county where such interest is located for a period of 20 years shall, in the absence of the issuance of a drilling permit as to such interest or the actual production or withdrawal of oil or gas from said lands, or from lands covered by a lease to which such interest is subject, or from lands pooled, unitized or included in unit operations therewith, or the use of such interest in underground gas storage operations, during such period of 20 years, be deemed abandoned, unless the owner thereof shall, within 3 years after the effective date of this act or within 20 years after the last sale, lease, mortgage or transfer of record of such interest or within 20 years after the last issuance of a drilling permit as to such interest or actual production or withdrawal of oil or gas, from said lands, or from lands covered by a lease to which such interest is subject, or from lands pooled, unitized, or included in unit operations therewith, or the use of such interest in underground gas storage operations, whichever is later, record a claim of interest as hereinafter provided. The recording of such notice shall operate to preserve such interest from the operation of this act for a period of 20 years thereafter when, if the nondormant character of the interest has not been evidenced by sale, lease, mortgage or transfer by instrument recorded in the register of deeds office for the county where such interest is located, a drilling permit issued, oil or gas actually produced or withdrawn from said lands, or from lands covered by a lease to which such interest is subject, or from lands pooled, unitized, or included in unit operations therewith, or the use of such interest in underground gas storage operations, or a like notice filed, such interest shall be deemed abandoned. 554.456 Persons dealing with custodian or donor; validity of successor custodian designation.

Sec. 6. No issuer, transfer agent, bank, broker or other person acting on the instructions of or otherwise dealing with any person purporting to act as a donor or in the capacity of a custodian is responsible for determining whether the person designated as custodian by the purported donor or by the custodian or purporting to act as a custodian has been duly designated, or whether any purchase, sale or transfer to or by or any other act of any person purporting to act in the capacity of custodian is in accordance with or authorized by this act, or is obliged to inquire into the validity or propriety under this act of any instrument or instructions executed or given by a person purporting to act as a donor or in the capacity of a custodian, or is bound to see to the application by any person purporting to act in the capacity of a custodian of any money or other property paid or delivered to him. No issuer, transfer agent, bank, broker or other person acting on any instrument of designation of a successor custodian, executed as provided in subsection (a) of section 7 by a minor to whom a gift has been made in a manner prescribed in this act and who has attained the age of 14 years, is responsible for determining whether the person designated by the minor as successor custodian has been duly designated, or is obliged to inquire into the validity or propriety under this act of the instrument of designation.

554.457 Successor custodian; designation; eligibility; removal; transfer of custodial property of guardian.

Sec. 7. (a) Only an adult member of the minor's family, a guardian of the minor or a trust company is eligible to become successor custodian. A custodian may designate his successor by executing and dating an instrument of designation before a subscribing witness other than the successor; the instrument of designation may but need not contain the resignation of the custodian. If the custodian does not so designate his successor before he dies or becomes legally incapacitated, and the minor has attained the age of 14 years, the minor may designate a successor custodian by executing an instrument of designation before a subscribing witness other than the successor. A successor custodian has all the rights, powers, duties and immunities of a custodian designated in a manner prescribed by this act.

(b) The designation of a successor custodian as provided in subsection (a) takes effect as to each item of the custodial property when the custodian resigns, dies or becomes legally incapacitated and the custodian or his legal representative:

(1) Causes the item, if it is a security in registered form or a life insurance policy, to be registered, with the issuing insurance company in the case of a life insurance policy in the name of the successor custodian followed in substance by the words: "As custodian for under the Michigan uniform gifts to minors act"; and

(2) Delivers or causes to be delivered to the successor custodian any other item of the custodial property, together with the instrument of designation of the successor custodian or a true copy thereof and any additional instruments required for the transfer thereof to the successor custodian.

The legal representative of a custodian who dies or becomes legally incapacitated shall promptly do all things within his power to put each item of the custodial property in the possession and control of the successor custodian named in an instrument of designation executed as provided in subsection (a) by the custodian or, if none, by the minor if he has no guardian and has attained the age of 14 years, or in the possession and control of the guardian of the minor if he has a guardian. If the custodian has executed as provided in subsection (a) more than 1 instrument of designation, his legal representative shall treat the instrument dated on an earlier date as having been revoked by the instrument dated on a later date.

(d) If a person designated as custodian or as successor custodian by the custodian as provided in subsection (a) is not eligible, dies or becomes legally incapacitated before the minor attains the age of 21 years, and if the minor has a guardian, the guardian of the minor shall be successor custodian. If the minor has no guardian and if no successor custodian who is eligible and has not died or become legally incapacitated has been designated as provided in subsection (a), a donor, his legal representative, the legal representative of the custodian, or an adult member of the minor's family, may petition the court for the designation of a successor custodian.

(e) A donor, the legal representative of a donor, a successor custodian, an adult member of the minor's family, a guardian of the minor or the minor if he has attained the age of 14 years, may petition the court that for cause shown in the petition, the custodian be removed and a successor custodian be designated or, in the alternative, that the custodian be required to give bond for the performance of his duties.

(f) Upon the filing of a petition as provided in this section, the court shall grant an order, directed to the persons and returnable on such notice as the court may require, to show cause why the relief prayed for in the petition should not be granted and, in due course, grant such relief as the court finds to be in the best interests of the minor.

(g) A custodian, whether or not the donor, against whom no proceedings have been commenced under paragraph (f) hereof, may transfer the custodial property to a guardian for the minor, acting under court appointment by causing each security which is custodial property to be registered in the name of said guardian and delivering such security and all other custodial property to said guardian, together with any additional instruments required for the transfer thereof. Thereafter the custodial property shall be held by the said guardian and administered as a part of the guardianship estate and the custodian shall be relieved of all liability therefor.

554.458 Accounting.

Sec. 8. (a) The minor, if he has attained the age of 14 years, or the legal representative of the minor, an adult member of the minor's family, or a donor or his legal representative may petition the court for an accounting by the custodian or his legal representative.

(b) The court, in a proceeding under this act or otherwise, may require or permit the custodian or his legal representative to account and, if the custodian is removed, shall so require and order delivery of all custodial property to the successor custodian and the execution of all instruments required for the transfer thereof.

554.461 Repeal; saving clause.

Sec. 11. Act No. 43 of the Public Acts of 1956, being sections 554.431 to 554.443 of the Compiled Laws of 1948, is hereby repealed, but the repeal does not affect gifts made in a manner prescribed therein nor the powers, duties and immunities conferred by gifts in such manner upon custodians and persons dealing with custodians. The provisions of this act henceforth apply, however, to all gifts made in a manner and form prescribed in Act No. 43 of the Public Acts of 1956 hereby repealed except insofar as such application impairs constitutionally vested rights. The sections of this act shall be construed as a continuation of the provisions of Act No. 43 of the Public Acts of 1956 hereby repealed, modified or amended according to the language employed, and not as a new enactment.

AN ACT to enact the revised uniform principal and income act, relating to the manner in which receipts and expenditures of trusts and estates shall be credited and charged as between income and principal; and to make uniform the law with respect thereto.

The People of the State of Michigan enact:

555.51 Revised uniform principal and income act; definitions.

(1) "Income beneficiary" means the person to whom income is presently payable or for whom it is accumulated for distribution as income.

(2) "Inventory value" means the cost of property purchased by the trustee and the market value of other property at the time it became subject to the trust, but in the case of a testamentary trust the trustee may use any value finally determined for the purposes of an estate or inheritance tax.

(3) "Remainderman" means the person entitled to principal, including income which has been accumulated and added to principal.

(4) "Trustee" means an original trustee and any successor or added trustee.

HISTORY: New 1965, p. 666, Act 340, Eff. Jan. 1, 1966.

555.52 Trust administration; regard for income beneficiaries and remainder; rules.

Sec. 2. (a) A trust shall be administered with due regard to the respective interests of income beneficiaries and remaindermen. A trust is so administered with respect to the allocation of receipts and expenditures if a receipt is credited or an expenditure is charged to income or principal or partly to each

(1) In accordance with the terms of the trust instrument, notwithstanding contrary provisions of this act;

(2) In the absence of any contrary terms of the trust instrument, in accordance with the provisions of this act; or

(3) If neither of the preceding rules of administration is applicable, in accordance with what is reasonable and equitable in view of the interests of those entitled to income as well as of those entitled to principal, and in view of the manner in which men of ordinary prudence, discretion and judgment would act in the management of their own affairs.

(b) If the trust instrument gives the trustee discretion in crediting a receipt or charging an expenditure to income or principal or partly to each, no inference of imprudence or partiality arises from the fact that the trustee has made an allocation contrary to a provision of this act.

555.54 Income beneficiary; right to income, date.

Sec. 4. (a) An income beneficiary is entitled to income from the date specified in the trust instrument, or, if none is specified, from the date an asset becomes subject to the trust. In the case of an asset becoming subject to a trust by reason of a will, it becomes subject to the trust as of the date of the death of the testator even though there is an intervening period of administration of the testator's estate.

(b) In the administration of a decedent's estate or an asset becoming subject to a trust by reason of a will

(1) Receipts due but not paid at the date of death of the testator are principal.

(2) Receipts in the form of periodic payments (other than corporate distributions to stockholders), including rent, interest or annuities, not due at the date of the death of the testator shall be treated as accruing from day to day. That portion of the receipt accruing before the date of death is principal, and the balance is income.

(c) In all other cases, any receipt from an income producing asset is income even though the receipt was earned or accrued in whole or in part before the date when the asset became subject to the trust.

(d) On termination of an income interest, the income beneficiary whose interest is terminated, or his estate, is entitled to

(1) Income undistributed on the date of termination.

(2) Income due but not paid to the trustee on the date of termination.

(3) Income in the form of periodic payments, other than corporate distributions to stockholders, including rent, interest or annuities, not due on the date of termination, accrued from day to day.

(e) Corporate distributions to stockholders shall be treated as due on the day fixed by the corporation for determination of stockholders of record entitled to distribution or, if no date is fixed, on the date of declaration of the distribution by the corporation.

555.55 Expenses chargeable against principal; income distribution; rules.

Sec. 5. (a) Unless the will otherwise provides and subject to subsection (b), all expenses incurred in connection with the settlement of a decedent's estate, including debts, funeral expenses, estate taxes, interest and penalties concerning taxes, family allowances, fees of attorneys and personal representatives, and court costs shall be charged against the principal of the estate.

(b) Unless the will otherwise provides, income from the assets of a decedent's estate after the death of the testator and before distribution, including income from property used to discharge liabilities, shall be determined in accordance with the rules applicable to a trustee under this act and distributed as follows:

(1) To specific legatees and devisees, the income from the property bequeathed or devised to them respectively, less taxes, ordinary repairs, and other expenses of management and operation of the property, and an appropriate portion of interest accrued since the death of the testator and of taxes imposed on income, excluding taxes on capital gains, which accrue during the period of administration.

(2) To all other legatees and devisees, except legatees of pecuniary bequests not in trust, the balance of the income, less the balance of taxes, ordinary repairs, and other expenses of management and operation of all property from which the estate is entitled to income, interest accrued since the death of the testator, and taxes imposed on income, excluding taxes on capital gains, which accrue during the period of administration, in proportion to their respective interests in the undistributed assets of the estate computed at times of distribution on the basis of inventory value.

(c) Income received by a trustee under subsection (b) shall be treated as income of the trust.

HISTORY: New 1965, p. 668, Act 340, Eff. Jan. 1, 1966.

555.56 Corporate distribution of shares; principal.

Sec. 6. (a) Corporate distributions of shares of the distributing corporation, including distributions in the form of a stock split or stock dividend, are principal. A right to subscribe to shares or other securities issued by the distributing corporation accruing to stockholders on account of their stock ownership and the proceeds of any sale of the right are principal.

(b) Except to the extent that the corporation indicates that some part of a corporate distribution is a settlement of preferred or guaranteed dividends accrued since the trustee became a stockholder or is in lieu of an ordinary cash dividend, a corporate distribution is principal if the distribution is pursuant to

- (1) A call of shares;
- (2) A merger, consolidation, reorganization, or other plan by which assets of the corporation are acquired by another corporation; or
- (3) A total or partial liquidation of the corporation, including any distribution which the corporation indicates is a distribution in total or partial liquidation or any distribution of assets, other than cash, pursuant to a court decree or final administrative order by a government agency ordering distribution of the particular assets.

(c) Distributions made from ordinary income by a regulated investment company or by a trust qualifying and electing to be taxed under federal law as a real estate investment trust are income. All other distributions made by the company or trust, including distributions from capital gains, depreciation or depletion, whether in the form of cash or an option to take new stock or cash or an option to purchase additional shares, are principal.

(d) Except as provided in subsections (a), (b) and (c), all corporate distributions are income, including cash dividends, distributions of or rights to subscribe to shares or securities or obligations of corporations other than the distributing corporation, and the proceeds of the rights or property distributions. Except as provided in subsections (b) and (c), if the distributing corporation gives a stockholder an option to receive a distribution either in cash or in its own shares, the distribution chosen is income.

(e) The trustee may rely upon any statement of the distributing corporation as to any fact relevant under any provision of this act concerning the source or character of dividends or distributions of corporate assets.

555.57 Bonds; principal; increment, income.

Sec. 7. (a) Bonds or other obligations for the payment of money are principal at their inventory value, except as provided in subsection (b) for discount bonds. No provision shall be made for amortization of bond premiums or for accumulation for discount. The proceeds of sale, redemption, or other disposition of the bonds or obligations are principal.

(b) The increment in value of a bond or other obligation for the payment of money bearing no stated interest but payable or redeemable at maturity or at a future time in an amount in excess of the amount in consideration of which it was issued is distributable as income. If the income accrues pursuant to a fixed schedule of appreciation such income is distributable to the beneficiary at the time the increment occurs and the trustee may transfer the amount thereof from principal to income on each such date.

Whenever unrealized increment is distributed as income but out of principal, the principal shall be reimbursed from income when realized.

HISTORY: New 1965, p. 669, Act 340, Imd. Eff. Jan. 1, 1966;—Am. 1966, p. 519, Act 307, Imd. Eff. Jul. 14.

555.58 Income or loss from business operation; allocation.

Sec. 8. (a) If a trustee uses any part of the principal in the continuance of a business of which the settlor was a sole proprietor or a partner, the net profits of the business, computed in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles for a comparable business, are income. If a loss results in any fiscal or calendar year, the loss falls on principal and shall not be carried into any other fiscal or calendar year for purposes of calculating net income.

(b) Generally accepted accounting principles shall be used to determine income from an agricultural or farming operation, including the raising of animals or the operation of a nursery.

555.59 Royalties; allocation.

Sec. 9. (a) If any part of the principal consists of a right to receive royalties, overriding or limited royalties, working interests, production payments, net profit interests, or other interests in minerals or other natural resources in, on or under land, the receipts from taking the natural resources from the land shall be allocated as follows:

(1) If received as rent on a lease or extension payments on a lease, the receipts are income.

(2) If received from a production payment, the receipts are income to the extent of any factor for interest or its equivalent provided in the governing instrument. There shall be allocated to principal the fraction of the balance of the receipts which the unrecovered cost of the production payment bears to the balance owed on the production payment, exclusive of any factor for interest or its equivalent. The receipts not allocated to principal are income.

(3) If received as a royalty, overriding or limited royalty, or bonus, or from a working, net profit, or any other interest in minerals or other natural resources, receipts not provided for in the preceding paragraphs of this section shall be apportioned on a yearly basis in accordance with this paragraph whether or not any natural resource was being taken from the land at the time the trust was established. Twenty-seven and one-half percent of the gross receipts (but not to exceed 50% of the net receipts remaining after payment of all expenses, direct and indirect, computed without allowance for depletion) shall be added to principal as an allowance for depletion. The balance of the gross receipts, after payment therefrom of all expenses, direct and indirect, is income.

(b) If a trustee, on the effective date of this act, held an item of depletable property of a type specified in this section he shall allocate receipts from the property in the manner used before the effective date of this act, but as to all depletable property acquired after the effective date of this act by an existing or new trust, the method of allocation provided herein shall be used.

(c) This section does not apply to timber, water, soil, sod, dirt, turf or mosses.

HISTORY: New 1965, p. 669, Act 340, Eff. Jan. 1, 1966.

555.60 Receipts from timber taken from land included in principal; allocation.

Sec. 10. If any part of the principal consists of land from which merchantable timber may be removed, the receipts from taking the timber from the land shall be allocated in accordance with subdivision (3) of subsection (a) of section 2.

HISTORY: New 1965, p. 670, Act 340, Eff. Jan. 1, 1966.

555.61 Receipts from property subject to depletion; allocation.

Sec. 11. Except as provided in sections 9 and 10, if the principal consists of property subject to depletion, including leaseholds, patents, copyrights, royalty rights, and rights to receive payments on a contract for deferred compensation, receipts from the property, not in excess of 5% per year of its inventory value, are income, and the balance is principal.

HISTORY: New 1965, p. 670, Act 340, Eff. Jan. 1, 1966.

555.62 Net proceeds of sale of principal; allocation.

Sec. 12. (a) Except as otherwise provided in this section, a portion of the net proceeds of sale of any part of principal which has not produced an average net income of at least 1% per year of its inventory value for more than a year (including as income the value of any beneficial use of the property by the income beneficiary) shall be treated as delayed income to which the income beneficiary is entitled as provided in this section. The net proceeds of sale are the gross proceeds received, including the value of any property received in substitution for the property disposed of, less the expenses, including capital gains tax, if any, incurred in disposition and less any carrying charges paid while the property was underproductive.

(1) The rule in section 12 (a) shall not apply to property while the market value of such property is insubstantial in relation to the market value of the trust.

(2) The rule in section 12 (a) shall not apply to stock paying cash dividends at reasonably regular intervals and listed on a recognized securities exchange.

(b) The sum allocated as delayed income is the difference between the net proceeds and the amount which, had it been invested at simple interest at 4% per year while the property was underproductive, would have produced the net proceeds. This sum, plus any carrying charges and expenses previously charged against income while the property was underproductive, less any income received by the income beneficiary from the property and less the value of any beneficial use of the property by the income beneficiary, is income, and the balance is principal.

(c) An income beneficiary or his estate is entitled to delayed income under this section as if it accrued from day to day during the time he was a beneficiary.

(d) If principal subject to this section is disposed of by conversion into property which cannot be apportioned easily, including land or mortgages (for example, realty acquired by or in lieu of foreclosure), the income beneficiary is entitled to the net income from any property or obligation into which the original principal is converted while the substituted property or obligation is held. If within 5 years after the conversion the substituted property has not been further converted into easily apportionable property, no allocation as provided in this section shall be made.

HISTORY: New 1965, p. 670, Act 340, Eff. Jan. 1, 1966;—Am. 1968, p. 519, Act 307, Imd. Eff. Jul. 14.

555.63 Charges against income.

Sec. 13. (a) The following charges shall be made against income:

(1) Ordinary expenses incurred in connection with the administration, management or preservation of the trust property, including regularly recurring taxes assessed against any portion of the principal, water rates, premiums on insurance taken upon the interests of the income beneficiary, remainderman or trustee, interest paid by the trustee and ordinary repairs.

(2) A reasonable allowance for depreciation on property subject to depreciation under generally accepted accounting principles, but no allowance shall be made for depreciation of that portion of any real property used by a beneficiary as a residence or for depreciation of any property held by the trustee on the effective date of this act for which the trustee is not then making an allowance for depreciation.

(3) One-half of court costs, attorney's fees, and other fees on periodic judicial accounting, unless the court directs otherwise.

(4) Court costs, attorney's fees, and other fees on other accountings or judicial proceedings if the matter primarily concerns the income interest, unless the court directs otherwise.

(5) One-half of the trustee's regular compensation, and 1/2 of the fee of any agent of the trustee charged in lieu of all or any part of the trustee's regular compensation, whether based on a percentage of principal or income, and all expenses reasonably incurred for current management of principal and application of income.

(6) Any tax levied upon receipts defined as income under this act or the trust instrument and payable by the trustee.

(b) If charges against income are of unusual amount, the trustee may by means of reserves or other reasonable means charge them over a reasonable period of time and withhold from distribution sufficient sums to regularize distributions.

(c) The following charges shall be made against principal:

(1) Compensation of the trustee and any agent of the trustee not chargeable to income under subsections (a) (4) and (a) (5), special compensation of the trustee and any agent of the trustee, expenses reasonably incurred in connection with principal, court costs and attorney's fees primarily concerning matters of principal, and compensation of the trustee and any agent of the trustee computed on principal as an acceptance, distribution or termination fee.

(2) Charges not provided for in subsection (a), including the cost of investing and re-investing principal, the payments on principal of an indebtedness, including a mortgage amortized by periodic payments of principal, expenses for preparation of property for rental or sale, and, unless the court directs otherwise, expenses incurred in maintaining or defending any action to construe the trust or protect it or the property or assure the title of any trust property.

(3) Extraordinary repairs or expenses incurred in making a capital improvement to principal, including special assessments, but, a trustee may establish an allowance for depreciation out of income to the extent permitted by subsection (a) (2) and by section 8.

(4) Any tax levied upon profit, gain or other receipts allocated to principal notwithstanding denomination of the tax as an income tax by the taxing authority.

(5) If an estate or inheritance tax is levied in respect of a trust in which both an income beneficiary and a remainderman have an interest, any amount apportioned to the trust, including interest and penalties, even though the income beneficiary also has rights in the principal.

(d) Regularly recurring charges payable from income shall be apportioned to the same extent and in the same manner that income is apportioned under section 4.

Sec. 1. The compromise, settlement or adjustment, made after the death of the settlor, of any good faith controversy relating to any irrevocable inter vivos trust instrument whether the controversy arises before or after the death of the settlor of the trust instrument (a) as to the construction, validity or effect of the trust instrument or any provision thereof, or (b) as to the rights or interests of any person as beneficiary under the trust instrument, or (c) otherwise arising in or growing out of the administration of the trust instrument, including any accounting in the administration, or any distribution under the trust instrument, when there is or may be any person interested who is a minor or otherwise without legal capacity to act in person, or whose present existence or whereabouts cannot be ascertained, or where there is any estate or interest which will or may be affected by the compromise, settlement or adjustment, which compromise settlement or adjustment is made in accordance with the provisions of this act, shall be lawful and valid and binding upon all the parties thereto, including such as are represented therein by trustees, guardians or guardians ad litem and upon all trusts created by the trust instrument, and upon all future interests arising thereunder in persons then in being or who may thereafter come into being and shall be recognized and so enforced by all courts and tribunals whatsoever. No such compromise or settlement shall impair in any way the rights of creditors having claims against the trust estate.

The agreement shall be submitted to the circuit court of the county in which the trustee, or 1 of the trustees has his residence or principal place of business or to any other circuit court otherwise having jurisdiction of the trust, for the approval thereof and the authorizing of the entering into and execution thereof by the qualified trustee of every trust created by the trust instrument which will be affected by such compromise or settlement, and by the guardian of each person who is an infant or otherwise incompetent to act in person for whom a guardian has been appointed and qualified and who shall have an estate or interest of any kind or nature which will or may be limited, diminished or changed, and by the persons named in the trust instrument as trustees of every trust of which no trustee has as yet qualified or by a guardian ad litem appointed by the court to represent such trust. If there is any person who if living has an estate or interest of any kind or nature whose whereabouts or present existence cannot after diligent search and inquiry be ascertained, or who is a minor or otherwise without legal capacity to act in person and has no guardian, or if there is any estate or interest which might be taken by any person not then in being, which may be limited, diminished or changed, the court to which the agreement has been submitted shall appoint a guardian ad litem to represent such person, estate or interest. If there is any trust which the trust instrument creates or purports to create which will be affected by the result of the compromise or settlement of which no trustee has qualified and no person named in the trust instrument as trustee of the trust has joined in the petition for approval and authorization, or otherwise voluntarily appeared in the proceeding for the authorization or approval, the court, if no person is named in the trust instrument as trustee of the trust, or if the person or persons named in the trust instrument as trustees of the trust, shall fail to appear after due notice in the proceeding, shall appoint a guardian ad litem to represent the trust. Each guardian ad litem may be authorized to enter into and sign the agreement on behalf of such person or estate or interest or trust.

ment upon the estates and interests of the persons and interests so represented by any guardian, trustee or guardian ad litem are found to be just and reasonable, shall make an order approving the agreement and authorizing the entering into and execution thereof by each guardian, trustee and guardian ad litem. The order having been entered and the agreement having been made complete by the execution thereof by all persons in interest competent to act for themselves, and by all trustees and guardians required by or authorized under the provisions of section 2 to be parties thereto, and by the guardians ad litem appointed by the court to represent all persons, interests and trusts for whom or which the court is required by section 2 to appoint guardians ad litem, the same shall be filed with the court and shall become valid and binding as provided in section 1, and all further proceedings in and about the administration of the trust instrument shall be had in accordance with the terms and provisions of the agreement and the order. The authorization and order in itself confers authority to execute and deliver or to receive and accept any conveyance or other transfer, waiver or release, appropriate to the carrying out of any of the terms and provisions of such agreement or order, the trustees, guardians and guardians ad litem shall abide by and carry out the terms thereof and execute and deliver or receive any instrument or conveyance necessary to give full effect thereto. AN ACT relating to powers, the creation and exercise of powers, release of powers, contracts to appoint, dispositions when powers are unexercised, rights of creditors of donees of powers, computations under the rule against perpetuities, reservation of powers of revocation, and recording of instruments; and to repeal certain acts and parts of acts.

*The People of the State of Michigan enact:556.111 Powers of appointment act; short title.

Sec. 1. This act shall be known and may be cited as the "powers of appointment act of 1967".

HISTORY: New 1967, p. 325, Act 224, Eff. Nov. 2.

556.112 Powers of appointment act; definitions.

Sec. 2. As used in this act:

- (a) "Property" means any legal or equitable interest in real or personal property, including choses in action.
- (b) "Power" means a power of appointment over property.
- (c) "Power of appointment" means a power created or reserved by a person having property subject to his disposition which enables the donee of the power to designate, within any limits that may be prescribed, the transferees of the property or the shares or the interests in which it shall be received; but it does not include a power of sale, a power of attorney or a power of amendment or revocation.

(d) "Donor" means the person who creates or reserves the power.

(e) "Donee" means the person to whom the power is granted or reserved.

(f) "Appointee" means the person to whom an interest in property is designated or transferred by exercise of the power.

(g) "Creating instrument" means the deed, will, trust agreement or other writing or document which creates or reserves the power.

(h) "General power" means a power exercisable in favor of the donee, his estate, his creditors or the creditors of his estate, whether or not it is exercisable in favor of others. A power to appoint to any person or a power which is not expressly restricted as to appointees is a general power. A power may be general as to some property and special as to other property.

(i) "Special power" means a power exercisable only in favor of 1 or more persons not including the donee, his estate, his creditors or the creditors of his estate.

(j) "Gift in default" means a transfer to a person designated in the creating instrument as the transferee of property if a power is not exercised or is released.

(k) "Release" means renunciation, relinquishment, surrender, refusal to accept, and any other form of release.

(l) A power of appointment is "presently" exercisable whenever the creating instrument does not manifest an intent that its exercise shall be solely by will or otherwise postponed.

HISTORY: New 1967, p. 325, Act 224, Eff. Nov. 2.

556.113 Powers of appointment; creation; donors, qualifications.

Sec. 3. (1) A power may be created by any creating instrument which is executed in the manner required by law for that instrument.

(2) The donor of a power must be a person capable of transferring the interest in property to which the power relates and having a transferable interest in such property.

556.114 Manifestation of intent to exercise.

Sec. 4. Unless otherwise provided in the creating instrument, an instrument manifests an intent to exercise the power if the instrument purports to transfer an interest in the appointive property which the donee would have no power to transfer except by virtue of the power, even though the power is not recited or referred to in the instrument, or if the instrument either expressly or by necessary implication from its wording, interpreted in the light of the circumstances surrounding its drafting and execution, manifests an intent to exercise the power. If the creating instrument explicitly directs that no instrument shall be effective to exercise the power unless it contains a reference to the specific power, an instrument which lacks such reference does not validly exercise the power. Subject to the foregoing, if there is a general power exercisable by will with no express gift in default in the creating instrument, a residuary clause or other general language in the donee's will purporting to dispose of all of the donee's estate or property operates to exercise the power but in all other cases such a clause or language does not in itself manifest an intent to exercise a power exercisable by will.

HISTORY: New 1967, p. 326, Act 224, Eff. Nov. 2;—Am. 1970, p. 558, Act 195, Imd. Eff. Aug. 6.

556.115 Methods by which powers may be exercised by donees.

Sec. 5. (1) A power can be exercised by any donee capable of transferring the interest in property to which the power relates.

(2) A power can be exercised only by a written instrument which would be sufficient to pass the interest intended to be appointed if the donee were the owner of the interest. Unless otherwise contemplated in the creating instrument, a power can be exercised only by a written instrument which complies with the requirements, if any, of the creating instrument as to the manner, time and conditions of the exercise of the power, except that a power exercisable only by deed is also exercisable by a written will executed as required by law.

(3) If the donor has authorized the power to be exercised by an instrument not sufficient in law to pass the appointive interest, the power is not void, but may be exercised by an instrument conforming to subsection (2).

(4) If consent of the donor or of any other person is required for the exercise of a power, the consent must be expressed in the instrument exercising the power or in a separate written instrument, signed in either case by the persons whose consent is required. If any person whose consent is required dies or becomes legally incapable of consenting, the power may be exercised by the donee without the consent of that person unless the creating instrument, construed with regard to surrounding circumstances, manifests a contrary intent.

(5) When a power is vested in 2 or more persons, all must unite in its exercise; but if 1 or more of the donees dies, becomes incapable of exercising the power, or releases the power, the power may be exercised by the others, unless the creating instrument, construed with regard to surrounding circumstances, manifests a contrary intent.

556.116 Interests appointable by general powers; part of donee's estate.

Sec. 6. (1) If the will of a donee of a general power exercisable by will either effectively exercises the power or manifests an intent to exercise the power and satisfies the requirements of sections 4 and 5, all interests which the donee could by will appoint and which the donee's will appoints or purports to appoint shall be regarded as part of the donee's estate for the following purposes only:

(a) The payment of the expenses of administration of the donee's estate, to the extent that the donee's individual assets are insufficient for that purpose.

(b) The satisfaction of the claims of the donee's creditors, to the extent provided in section 13.

(c) Inclusion of such interests in determining the right of election of the donee's widow and the satisfaction of such right.

(d) The distribution of any of such interests as the intestate property of the donee, to the extent that the donee's will does not effectively dispose of such interests and the creating instrument does not otherwise provide.

(2) This section does not affect the period during which the vesting of a future interest may be suspended or postponed by an instrument exercising a power as provided in section 14.

556.117 Naming appointees by donees of powers.

Sec. 7. The donee of any power may appoint the whole or any part of the appointive assets to any 1 or more of the permissible appointees and exclude others, except as otherwise provided in the creating instrument.

HISTORY: New 1967, p. 327, Act 224, Eff. Nov. 2.

556.118 Release of powers; method; delivery.

Sec. 8. (1) Unless the creating instrument expressly provides that a power cannot be released or expressly restricts the time, manner or scope of release, all powers may be released except as provided in subsection (2).

(2) Unless the creating instrument expressly provides otherwise, a special power may not be released if either the power is not presently exercisable, or the power is exercisable by a trustee or other fiduciary in a fiduciary capacity which requires the exercise of the power.

(3) The release of a power may include all or any part of the property subject to the power; reduce or limit the persons or objects, or classes of persons or objects in whose favor the power is exercisable; or limit in any other respect the extent to or the manner in which the power may be exercised.

(4) A release may be effected, either with or without consideration, by written instrument signed by the donee and delivered.

(5) Delivery of a release may be accomplished in any of the following ways, but this subsection does not preclude a determination that a release has been delivered in some other manner:

(a) Delivery to any person specified in the creating instrument.

(b) Delivery to a trustee or other fiduciary or to 1 of several trustees or other fiduciaries, other than the donee, of the property to which the power relates, or by filing with the court having jurisdiction over the trust.

(c) Delivery to any person, other than the donee, who could be adversely affected by an exercise of the power.

(d) By recording or filing in the office of the register of deeds in the county where the property is located or where the donee resides, which release shall be recorded by the register.

HISTORY: New 1967, p. 327, Act 224, Eff. Nov. 2;—Am. 1970, p. 559, Act 195, Imd. Eff. Aug. 6.

556.119 Creation, exercise and release of powers; irrevocability.

Sec. 9. The creation, exercise or release of a power is irrevocable unless the power to revoke is reserved in the instrument creating, exercising or releasing the power.

HISTORY: New 1967, p. 327, Act 224, Eff. Nov. 2.

556.120 Contracts of donees of powers to make appointments; remedies.

Sec. 10. (1) Unless the creating instrument provides otherwise, the donee of a power, presently exercisable, can contract to make an appointment, if neither the contract nor the promised appointment confers a benefit upon a person who is not a permissible appointee under the power.

(2) Unless the creating instrument provides otherwise, the donee of a power not presently exercisable cannot contract to make an appointment. If the donee cannot contract to make an appointment, but nevertheless does so contract, the promisee cannot obtain either specific performance or damages, except that he can obtain damages equal to the value given by him for the promise.

HISTORY: New 1967, p. 327, Act 224, Eff. Nov. 2.

556.121 Instruments relating to powers to appoint interests in land; recording as conveyances.

Sec. 11. (1) Any of the following instruments relating to powers to appoint interests in land is entitled to be recorded as a conveyance upon compliance with section 23 of chapter 65 of the Revised Statutes of 1846, being section 565.23 of the Compiled Laws of 1948:

(a) An instrument, other than a will, exercising a power.

(b) An instrument expressing consent to exercise.

(c) A release.

(2) If a power is exercised by a will, a certified copy of the will and of the certificate of probate thereof may be recorded.

HISTORY: New 1967, p. 328, Act 294, Eff. Nov. 2.

556.122 Special power; passing on donee's default.

Sec. 12. If the donee of a special power fails to exercise effectively the power, or totally releases a releasable special power, the interests which might have been appointed under the power pass:

(a) If the creating instrument contains an express gift in default, then in accordance with the terms of the gift.

(b) If the creating instrument contains no express gift in default and does not clearly indicate that the permissible appointees are to take only if the donee exercises the power, then equally to the permissible appointees living at the time of the termination or release of the power, but if the power is to appoint among a class, such as "relatives", "issue" or "heirs", then to those persons in the closest degree of kinship or representing others in the same degree of kinship who would have taken had there been an express appointment per stirpes to the described class effective as of the termination or release of the power.

(c) If the creating instrument contains no express gift in default and clearly indicates that the permissible appointees are to take only if the donee exercises the power, then by reversion to the donor or his estate; but if the creating instrument expressly states that there is no reversion in the donor, then any language in the creating instrument indicating or stating that the permissible appointees are to take only if the donee exercises the power is to be disregarded and the interests shall pass in accordance with subdivision (b).

556.123 General powers; creditors' rights in appointable interests.

Sec. 13. (1) If the donee has a general power of appointment, any interest which the donee has power to appoint or has appointed is to be treated as property of the donee for the purposes of satisfying claims of his creditors, as provided in this section.

(2) If the donee has an unexercised general power of appointment and he can presently exercise such a power, any creditor of the donee may by appropriate proceedings reach any interest which the donee could appoint, to the extent that the donee's individual assets are insufficient to satisfy the creditor's claim. If the donee has exercised the power, the creditor can reach the appointed interests to the same extent that under the law relating to fraudulent conveyances he could reach property which the donee has owned and transferred.

(3) If the donee has at the time of his death a general power of appointment, whether or not he exercises the power, the executor or other legal representative of the donee may reach on behalf of creditors any interest which the donee could have appointed to the extent that the claim of any creditor has been filed and allowed in the donee's estate but not paid because the assets of the estate are insufficient.

(4) Under a general assignment by the donee for the benefit of his creditors, the assignee may exercise any right which a creditor of the donee would have under subsection (2).

(5) A purchaser without actual notice and for a valuable consideration of any interest in property, legal or equitable, takes the interest free of any rights which the donee's estate or a creditor of the donee might have under this section.

(6) If more than 1 person is the donee of a general power of appointment, it shall be presumed that the interests of the donees in the property subject to the power is equally owned among them unless the creating instrument indicates otherwise.

556.124 Suspension or postponement of vesting of future interests; time period.

Sec. 14. The period during which the vesting of a future interest may be suspended or postponed by an instrument exercising a power begins in the case of an instrument exercising a general power presently exercisable, on the effective date of the instrument of exercise; and in all other situations, at the time of the creation of the power.

HISTORY: New 1967, p. 329, Act 224, Eff. Nov. 2.

556.125 Suspension or postponement of vesting of future interests; time period when trust creator reserves power to amend or revoke.

Sec. 15. When the creator of a trust reserves to himself an unqualified power to amend or revoke, the period during which the vesting of a future interest may be suspended or postponed begins when the unqualified power to amend or revoke terminates, whether by reason of the death of the trust creator, by release or otherwise; or on the effective date of the instrument exercising the power to revoke.

HISTORY: New 1967, p. 329, Act 224, Eff. Nov. 2.

556.126 Postponement of vesting of future interests; law determining period.

Sec. 16. When the provisions of sections 14 or 15 apply, the permissible period for the postponement of a vesting of a future interest shall be fixed in accordance with either the law in effect at the time of the exercise of the power or of the termination of the unqualified power of amendment or revocation, or in accordance with the law in effect at the time of the creation of the power, whichever will support the validity of the exercise of the power.

HISTORY: New 1967, p. 329, Act 224, Eff. Nov. 2.

556.127 Postponement of vesting of future interests; facts and circumstances to be considered.

Sec. 17. When the period during which the vesting of a future interest may be postponed must be computed from the time of the creation of a power, with respect to interests sought to be created by an instrument exercising the power, facts and circumstances existing at the effective date of the instrument exercising the power shall be taken into account.

HISTORY: New 1967, p. 329, Act 224, Eff. Nov. 2.

556.128 Reserved power of revocation; effect on creditors and purchasers.

Sec. 18. When the grantor in a conveyance reserves to himself an unqualified power of revocation, he is thereafter deemed still to be the absolute owner of the estate conveyed, so far as the rights of his creditors and purchasers are concerned. If the grantor dies without exercising such power, the executor or other legal representative of the grantor may reach the estate conveyed on behalf of any creditor whose claim has been filed and allowed in the grantor's probate estate but not paid because the assets of the probate estate are insufficient to satisfy his claim. This section shall not confer upon the executor or other legal representative of the grantor the right to obtain on behalf of creditors any of the proceeds of life insurance policies or other distributions from qualified pension, profit sharing and stock bonus plans that might be payable as a result of the death of the grantor.

Sec. 19. As to all matters not within this act or any other applicable statute, the common law is to govern. This section is not intended to restrict in any manner the meaning of any provision of this act or any other applicable statute.

556.130 Death of appointee prior to exercise of power; nonlapse of appointment, property disposition.

Sec. 20. If an attempted exercise of a power is ineffective because of the death of an appointee prior to the effective date of the exercise, the appointment shall not lapse and section 11 of the probate code, Act No. 288 of the Public Acts of 1939, being section 702.11 of the Compiled Laws of 1948, shall apply as though the property subject to the power were property of the decedent, provided that section 11 shall not be applied to pass property to a person not a member of the class of permissible appointees.

HISTORY: New 1967, p. 329, Act 224, Eff. Nov. 2.

556.131 Membership of class; determination; after born members.

Sec. 21. Except as provided in section 20, when the donee of a power executes an instrument exercising the power in favor of a class, the membership of the class shall be determined as of the effective date of the exercise and include any person otherwise qualified as a member of the class who was born after the execution of the instrument exercising the power and before the effective date of the exercise unless a different intention is apparent from the instrument exercising the power.

All of the provisions of Act No. 288 of the Public Acts of 1939, as amended, with respect to the administration and disposition of property, real and personal, included in estates, shall be applicable with respect to such community property as well as with respect to such separate property. The probate court having jurisdiction of the estate of the deceased spouse shall determine whether and to what extent property being so administered constitutes separate property of the deceased spouse or community property and shall also determine whether and to what extent property standing in the name of the surviving spouse, or standing in the names of both the surviving spouse and the deceased spouse in such manner that by law, but for the provisions of this act, the surviving spouse would succeed thereto by reason of survivorship, constitutes separate property of the survivor or community property. Such determination shall be made upon application of the executor or administrator, the surviving spouse, or any other interested person, after such notice to the surviving spouse and any other interested person as the court may direct, and, in addition thereto, in any case where creditors of the estate have not yet been determined, notice shall be given as provided for in Act No. 288 of the Public Acts of 1939, as amended. Upon the making of such determination, the court shall enter an order in accordance therewith, including such directions to the executor or administrator and to the surviving spouse as to the execution and delivery of any conveyances, transfers, waivers, or releases as shall be appropriate to carry out the terms thereof, so that all property which constitutes community property shall be subject to administration by the executor or administrator and that which constitutes separate property of the surviving spouse shall be free from such administration, and all of the provisions of Act No. 288 of the Public Acts of 1939, as amended, which are applicable with respect to community property standing in the name of the deceased spouse, as hereinbefore provided, shall likewise be applicable with respect to all community property so subjected to administration by such executor or administrator.

Determination of claims and administrative expenses; payment of estate, inheritance or succession taxes.

(c) In the order for and at the time of the determination of claims, such court shall also determine whether and to what extent claims and administration expenses are payable out of community property or out of separate property of the deceased spouse and those payable out of community property shall be charged equally against the half of the community property which belongs to the survivor and the half which passes in accordance with testamentary disposition of or to the heirs and distributees of the deceased spouse. No estate, inheritance, succession, or similar taxes payable by reason of the transfer upon the death of the deceased spouse of the interest of such spouse in community property shall be charged against the half of the community property which belongs to the surviving spouse.

Assignment of remaining share to surviving spouse on payment of claims and expenses.

(d) When all claims and administration expenses for which the community property is liable have been fully satisfied, or appropriate provision has been made for their satisfaction, the court shall enter an order directing the executor or administrator to execute and deliver such instruments as shall be appropriate to transfer and convey 1/2 of the remainder of the community property to the surviving spouse and thereafter the interest of the surviving spouse in such property shall be that of a tenant in common. The probate court shall have authority to conduct any further hearing and to make any further determination which shall be incidental or necessary to carrying out the provisions of this act.

Rights of persons dealing with surviving spouse.

(e) Notwithstanding any other provision of this act, any other person may rely, and shall be fully protected in so doing, upon the right of the surviving spouse to receive, manage, control, dispose of, or otherwise deal with property standing in the name of the surviving spouse, or standing in the names of both the surviving spouse and the deceased spouse in such manner that by law, but for the provisions of this act, the surviving spouse would succeed thereto by reason of survivorship.

The People of the State of Michigan enact:

561.1 Purpose of act; public records, recreating.

Sec. 1. The property rights of the state of Michigan, its political subdivisions and private interests are imperiled when the public records in the office of the register of deeds of any county have been, or shall hereafter be, lost or destroyed, in whole or in any material part, by fire, flood or other disaster. It is the purpose of this act to provide a remedy to safeguard such property rights, and to foster the recreation of the public records.

HISTORY: CL 1948, 561.1.

561.2 Public records; loss or destruction; land titles; bill of complaint; order for appearance; hearing; property description.

Sec. 2. When the public records in the office of the register of deeds of any county have been, or shall hereafter be, lost or destroyed, in whole or in any material part, by fire, flood or other disaster, the circuit court in chancery for any such county shall have jurisdiction and authority to hear and determine any suit instituted under the provisions of this act, and the rights of the several parties in said suit, and it shall be the duty of the prosecuting attorney of such county, when directed by the board of supervisors of such county, to file a bill in chancery on behalf of the people of the state of Michigan and of the county to determine and quiet title in and to the lands in such county, the defendants in which shall be described as "all persons having or claiming any interest in or lien upon the real property herein described, or any part thereof." The bill of complaint shall contain an allegation setting forth that all or a material part of the public records in the office of the register of deeds of the county have been lost or destroyed by fire, flood or other disaster and the property rights of the state of Michigan, its political subdivisions and private citizens have been imperiled thereby; and shall describe all real property in said county, affected by said loss. Real property in said county shall be sufficiently described by giving the name of the county and describing the territory included therein at the time of the destruction of the records by using the same descriptions set forth in the act or acts of the legislature organizing and assigning territory to such county, or the applicable parts thereof. The court shall have jurisdiction of all real property affected by the loss or destruction of the records of the register of deeds. In case the entire records of the office of the register of deeds are not lost or destroyed, the circuit court shall take judicial notice thereof.

Upon the filing of the bill of complaint the circuit court shall enter an order for appearance and fix a time and place for hearing. Said order shall be deemed sufficient for the purposes of this act, if the persons ordered to appear are described as: "All persons having or claiming any interest in or lien upon the property described in the bill of complaint including their unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns, as the case may be," and setting out the same descriptions of real property as are contained in the bill of complaint. The court may direct that the order for appearance shall include additional descriptions by name or otherwise of territory within the county, including without describing the several pieces or parcels thereof, the several townships by name, and sections thereof by number, and the names of cities and villages and recorded plats and subdivisions outside of cities and villages: Provided, however, That the inclusion or exclusion of such additional descriptions shall not affect the jurisdiction of the court or the validity of any proceeding under this act or any order or decree made therein. Such order for appearance shall be published for 6 successive weeks at least once each week, in a newspaper published in the county where the real estate is located, if there be one; and if no newspaper be published in such county, then such order for appearance shall be published in a newspaper published in an adjacent county and, in every case within 30 days after the first publication of such order for appearance, a true copy shall be posted in a conspicuous place on the building in which the circuit court is sitting. The circuit judge may order such additional publications as the court shall deem necessary to give reasonable notice of the pendency of such suit. The court may order that printed copies of the order for appearance be furnished to the supervisor of each township for distribution to the residents thereof and may order that copies thereof be posted in conspicuous places on townhalls, school buildings, post offices and other buildings where persons assemble and that copies be mailed to all persons within the county having a post office address therein, and to each person whose name on any township treasurer's assessment roll shows an address outside of said county.

After the expiration of 90 days from the date of said order and upon proof of the publication provided for in the foregoing paragraph, the court on the date set for hearing or on an adjourned date therefor and upon hearing and proof thereof, shall enter a decree which shall state that the records in the office of the register of deeds have been lost or destroyed, in whole or in any material part, by fire, flood or other disaster and shall authorize the filing of intervening petitions as provided in section 5 of this act, and the issuance of orders based on testimony introduced under sections 5 and 6 of this act determining the interest or title to particular parcels of land. The decree shall further provide that all persons entering appearance before the issuance of such decree shall be served personally or by registered mail by any petitioner in any proceedings hereafter instituted under section 5 of this act wherein such petitioner shall claim an interest in or lien upon the lands described in their appearance. The court is authorized to issue such further orders as it shall deem necessary.

FORMER LAWS: By the act of August 29, 1805, the clerk of every court was authorized to record all deeds and writings which were acknowledged or proved before such court, or any judge thereof, or any justice of the peace, or any notary public. If the party did not reside in Michigan the acknowledgment or proof was to be "before any court of law, or the mayor or any chief magistrate of any city, town, or corporation in which the party shall dwell, certified by such court, mayor, or magistrate, in the manner such acts are usually authenticated by them." Woodward Code, p. 52, Secs. 87 and 89; Cass Code, p. 45; Terr. Laws, vol. 1, p. 36. Act of Sept. 16, 1810; Terr. Laws, vol. 1, p. 189, authorizes justices of the peace to take acknowledgments. By the act of 1820, deeds were required to be signed and sealed by the parties, and acknowledged or proved by one or more of the subscribing witnesses thereto, before one of the judges of the supreme court, or one of the justices of any county court, a notary public, or justice of the peace. Code of 1820, p. 157; Terr. Laws, vol. 1, p. 516. Deeds executed in any other territory, state, or country, were required to be acknowledged or proved and certified according to the laws and usages of such territory, state, or country. The provisions of the act of 1820 were substantially re-enacted in 1827, and continued in force until August 31, 1838. Revision of 1827, p. 258, and 1833, p. 279; Terr. Laws, vol. 2, p. 361. By the R.S. 1838, p. 257, acknowledgments might be made "before any judge of any court of record, or before any notary public or justice of the peace within the state or of the United States, or in any foreign country, or before any minister or consul of the United States in any foreign country." And provision was made for proving deeds before a court of record, in case the grantor should die or depart from the state without having acknowledged the same. R.S. 1838, as amended by Act 115 of 1839, Sec. 17, p. 219, required two witnesses. R.S. 1838 required no witnesses to a deed. By Act 108 of 1840, p. 166, deeds might be acknowledged before a justice of the peace, judge of the circuit, district, or supreme courts of the state, or notary public, or master in chancery. If executed by a person residing in another state or territory, the deed was required to be executed according to the laws of such state or territory. If executed by a person residing in a foreign country, it might be executed according to the laws of such country, and acknowledged before a minister plenipotentiary, consul, or charge d'affaires of the United States. This act was in force until repealed by the R.S. 1846. For acts respecting conveyances by the governor and judges, and by the mayor, recorder, and aldermen of Detroit, see Laws of 1834, p. 38; Act 47 of 1844, p. 60, as amended by Act 106 of 1846, p. 156, and Act 226 of 1850, p. 232.

565.9 Execution of deed in another state; governing law, acknowledgment.

Sec. 9. If any such deed shall be executed in any other state, territory or district of the United States, such deed may be executed according to the laws of such state, territory or district, and the execution thereof may be acknowledged before any judge of a court of record, notary public, justice of the peace, master in chancery or other officer authorized by the laws of such state, territory or district to take the acknowledgment of deeds therein, or before any commissioner appointed by the governor of this state for such purpose.

565.10 Execution of deed in another state; seal of officer, certificate; record of prior deeds as evidence.

Sec. 10. In the cases provided for in the last preceding section unless the acknowledgment be taken before a commissioner appointed by the governor of this state for that purpose the officer taking such acknowledgment shall attach thereto the seal of his office, and if such acknowledgment be taken before a justice of the peace or other officer having no seal of office, such deed or other conveyance or instrument shall have attached thereto a certificate of the clerk or other proper certifying officer of a court of record of the county or district, or of the secretary of the state or territory within which such acknowledgment was taken under the seal of his office, that the person whose name is subscribed to the certificate of acknowledgment was, at the date thereof, such officer as he is therein represented to be, and that he believes the signature of such person to such certificate of acknowledgment to be genuine, and that the deed is executed and acknowledged according to the laws of such state, territory or district. Whenever any deed or other instrument effecting [affecting] the title to land, executed, acknowledged and authenticated in accordance with this section and the last preceding section, has been heretofore recorded in the proper county, such record, or a certified transcript thereof shall be prima facie evidence of the due execution of such instrument to the same extent as if it had been authenticated as required by the statute in force at the time such instrument was recorded.

FORMER LAWS: The earlier acts did not require any clerk's certificate. Such certificate first became necessary May 20, 1839. Amendatory Act 115 of 1839, Sec. 34, p. 219, to R.S. 1838, which took effect 30 days thereafter, provided that "no register of deeds shall record any deed executed out of this state, unless there shall be attached thereto the official certificate of the proper certifying officer, showing that the officer taking the acknowledgment of such deed is such officer as by his certificate of acknowledgment he purports to be, duly commissioned and qualified." Act 108 of 1840, p. 166, which took effect April 1, 1840, required that when the deed was executed in any other state or territory it should have attached thereto a certificate of the proper county clerk, under the seal of his office, that such deed was executed according to the laws of such state or territory. Act 5 of 1843, p. 6, effective Feb. 15, 1843, required that when the deed was executed in any other state or territory it should have attached thereto a certificate of the clerk or proper certifying officer of any court of record in such state or territory, under the seal of his office, that such deed was executed and acknowledged according to the laws of such state or territory. This provision continued in force until R.S. 1846.

565.11 Execution of deed in foreign country; governing law; acknowledgment; certificate, seal; validation of certain deeds; record as evidence.

Sec. 11. If such deed be executed in any foreign country it may be executed according to the laws of such country, and the execution thereof may be acknowledged before any notary public therein or before any minister plenipotentiary, minister extraordinary, minister resident, charge d'affaires, commissioner, or consul of the United States, appointed to reside therein; which acknowledgment shall be certified thereon by the officer taking the same under his hand, and if taken before a notary public his seal of office shall be affixed to such certificate: Provided, That all deeds of land situated within this state, heretofore or hereafter made in any foreign country, and executed in the presence of 2 witnesses, who shall have subscribed their names to the same as such, and the execution thereof shall have been acknowledged by the persons executing the same before any 1 of the officers authorized by this section to take such acknowledgment, and such acknowledgment shall have been certified thereon, as above required, shall be deemed between the parties thereto and all parties claiming under or through them, as valid and effectual to convey the legal estate of the premises therein described; and whenever such deed has been recorded in the office of the register of deeds of the proper county such record shall be effectual for all purposes of a legal record, and the record of such deed, or a transcript thereof, may be given in evidence as in other cases: Provided, That nothing herein contained shall impair the rights of any person under a purchase heretofore made in good faith and on valuable consideration.

AN ACT relative to the acknowledgment of deeds and other instruments affecting real property by married women.

The People of the State of Michigan enact:

565.281 Acknowledgment by married woman.

Sec. 1. That hereafter the acknowledgment of any married woman to a deed of conveyance or other instrument affecting real property, may be taken in the same manner as if she were sole.

HISTORY: How. 5662;—CL 1897, 8966;—CL 1915, 11698;—CL 1929, 13337;—CL 1948, 565.281.

This act superseded Sec. 2 of Act 104 of 1875.

FORMER LAWS: The act of Aug. 29, 1805, provided that "when husband and wife have sealed and delivered a writing, if the wife appear before such court" (which it would seem must be a court of record), "judge, justice, or notary public, and being examined privily and apart from her husband, shall declare that she did freely and willingly seal and deliver the said writing, to be then shown and explained to her, and wishes not to retract it, and consenteth that it may be recorded, a certificate of such privy examination being returned and recorded with the writing; and the writing being acknowledged also by the husband, or proved by witnesses to be his act, in such case the said writing shall not only be sufficient to convey or release any right of dower thereby intended to be released or conveyed, but be as effectual for every other purpose as if she were an unmarried woman." Woodward Code, p. 53; Cass Code, page 45; Terr. Laws, vol. 1, p. 39. If the grantor did not reside in Michigan, no different acknowledgment seemed to be required of the married woman than of any other person; but the deed, executed as before stated in the case of non-residents, together with any relinquishment of dower, was to "be effectual." The act of May 27, 1820, provided that no estate of a feme covert residing in this territory should pass by her deed without a previous acknowledgment made "on a private examination apart from her husband, that she executed such deed freely, without any fear of compulsion of her husband;" but where any feme covert not residing in the territory should join with her husband in any deed or conveyance of, or relating to any lands or real estate within the territory, it might be executed and acknowledged in all respects as if she were sole, and she should thereby be barred of all claim of dower, and all other right and title therein as if she were sole. Code of 1820, p. 159; Terr. Laws, vol. 1, p. 518. This provision was re-enacted in 1827, and continued in force until and including August 31, 1838, when it was repealed by the Revised Statutes of that year. See revision of 1827, p. 259; and 1833, p. 280; Terr. Laws, Vol. 2, p. 362. The Revised Statutes of 1838 required the acknowledgment of the wife to be taken separately and apart from her husband, and that she should acknowledge that she executed the deed without any fear or compulsion of her husband, p. 258, Sec. 11. And to bar her dower she must in the deed release her claim thereto, p. 263, Sec. 7. Sec. 4 of Act 106, 1840, p. 167, provided that the right of dower which a married woman might have in the state should not be passed or conveyed except by deed executed by her, to be acknowledged by her on a private examination, separate and apart from her husband, that she had executed the deed without fear or compulsion from any one. This provision, it will be seen, relates only to the release of dower. It was in force until March 1, 1847, when the Revised Statutes of 1846 took effect.

565.282 Validation of acknowledgments.

Sec. 2. Any acknowledgment of any married woman to a deed of conveyance or other instrument affecting real property taken since the fourth day of August, A.D. 1875, in the same manner as if such married woman had been sole, is hereby declared valid and effectual for all intents and purposes, and shall be so held in all courts and places.

Act 72, 1875, p. 110; Imd. Eff. Apr. 8.

AN ACT to confirm and legalize all acts changing representative districts passed prior to the enumeration of 1874, and to confirm records, taxes and official acts in territory affected by such changes.

Preamble. Whereas, The supreme court of this state has decided that an act of the legislature passed in 1873 for the purpose of enlarging the boundaries of the city of Detroit, and which did, in fact, annex to said city of Detroit, territory which before then was in a representative district other than the one to which said territory was annexed, was void, as being in conflict with section 4 of article 4 of the constitution of this state;

And Whereas, Said decision, if applied to all existing acts on that subject of like character which have been passed since the enumeration of 1870 and prior, would unsettle and throw into confusion a large portion of the territory in this state, affect the legality of the records of deeds, mortgages, and other instruments, the validity of taxes assessed and the election of officers in many cases;

Now, therefore, For the purpose of settling all questions which might be raised by reason of legislation of the character indicated, and to ratify and confirm all such acts and proceedings thereunder,

Sec. 2. All records made in the office of any register of deeds, all suits commenced and pending, or determined, all taxes levied, and all other official acts in or concerning territory so transferred, which would have been legal and valid had the division of territory taken place next subsequent to an enumeration of the inhabitants, shall be held to be as legal and valid as if the territory transferred from 1 representative district to another had been so transferred at a session next subsequent to such general enumeration: Provided, That nothing in this act contained shall be held as affecting or intending to affect the particular case which was decided by the supreme court in the recital above alluded to.
